'Take Out the 'P',
'Cause I Is Leavin'

One day a foreman of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co., which is building the huge Savannah River atomic materials plant, was somewhat startled by a hard-working member of his labor crew who came up to him, pointed to the company sign, and said:

"Boss, you can take dat 'T' out of dat, 'cause I is leavin'."

He had endured it as long as he could. He had kept worrying and worrying they might be getting near "the bomb" and so he asked for his time and departed for some unannounced destination.

A lot of persons feel that way. The Negro worker is matched by a wealthy New Yorker who two years ago stood it as long as he could and sold out his place in the huge city on Manhattan Island, which he figured would be one of the first targets of any Russian atomic attack. He started looking for a safe place and after diligent search purchased a large farm across the river from Augusta, Ga., on the South Carolina side. He had just got well settled down and was feeling safe when the Atomic Energy Commission announced it would build a plant which would enable this country to have the hydrogen bomb as a weapon. His safe retreat was just a mile from the area boundary. This gentleman, by all accounts, is a very forlorn character who goes about biting his nails and peering up at the sky with all the timorousness of a hen on the lookout for chicken hawks.

No Escape

Einstein, whose simple-looking formula, $E=mc^2$ ("the mass of a body is a measure of its energy content"), is fundamental to the whole subject of atomic energy, put it well when he said:

"There is no secret and there is no defense and there is no hiding place."

Atomic energy, which the enemy has, is all a part of today's tensions, as gunpowder was to another... although this is, of course, much more terrible in force. We can't run away from it. More than 20 times now, in Japan, on Pacific islands, and from the oft-melted, seared and cancerous sands of Nevada's desert, the strangely horrible and yet beautiful flowers of the atomic bombs have mushroomed seethingly into the skies.

Tests

They have not all been the same—since the tests were for experimental purposes. One was a giant. The ravaged island of Eniwetok saw it. It was roughly the equivalent of 120,000 tons of TNT. The smallest has released energy equal to that in a ton of that shattering explosive.

The A-bomb is no longer an experiment. It is proved.

The work now is to fit it into artillery and other uses—perhaps mortars. If the Soviets were to attack this week, for example, we would retaliate with bombers and fighters carrying the new weapons, and possibly a few ground troops would have support of the new cannon.

The Soviets have exploded three atomic bombs. Because these explosive release certain radioactive particles and gases, experts know the second Soviet bomb was superior to the first. It was announced by the President in the fall of 1949. The World Series was on and Americans, understandably unable to comprehend the atomic threat, simply gave more attention to the desperate struggle between the Yankees and the Giants and escaped the meaning of the bomb by listening to the thunder of bats.

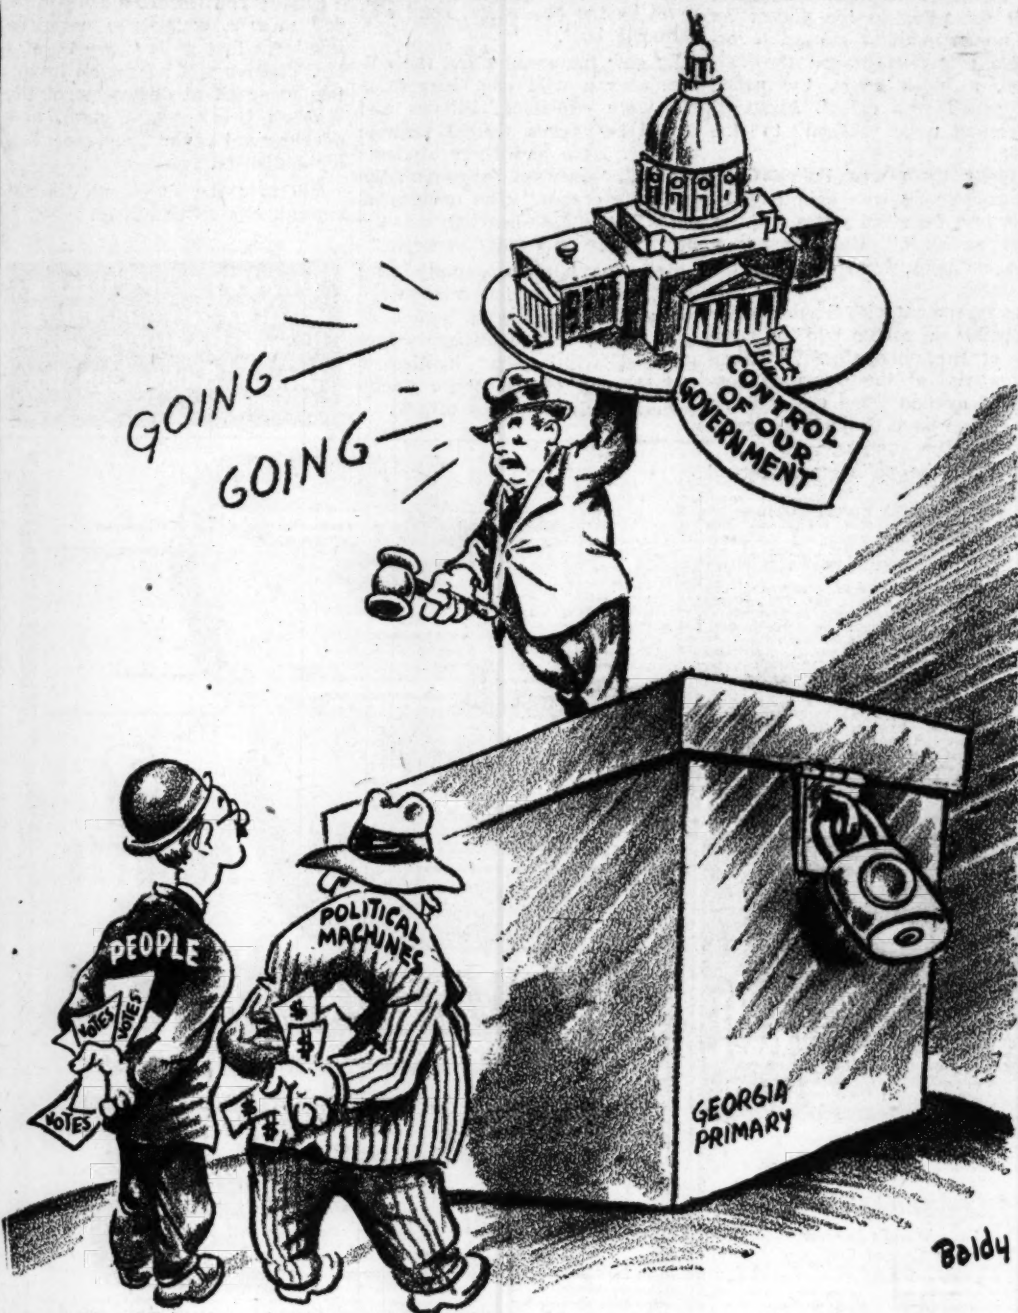

For a while the optimists thought that first bomb might have been the explosion of a Russian atomic plant, which had got out of control. But, in October of 1951 the scientists behind the Iron Curtain tested two more, and from that moment the grim and hairy nightmare became truth.

As long as we alone had the bombs, they were a deterrent to war. The Soviets would not attack against them. Now, we hurry toward the hydrogen weapon, knowing all the while that thanks to traitors the Soviets also are at work on it.

It is a race... and those who would cut down the military appropriations are committing themselves to folly and the nation to possible defeat.

There is no secret and no hiding place.

There is only superior strength.

259 Solons To Get Seats In Primary

By ALBERT RILEY

Georgia voters Wednesday will select the men—and possibly one woman—who will represent them for the next two years in the 259 House and Senate seats of the General Assembly.

There are contests in the state Democratic primary for about half the legislative seats. Unopposed candidates are assured of nomination for the other half. In many of these cases the candidates already have been chosen in county primaries.

Many administration stalwarts such as House Speaker Fred Hand, Speaker Pro Tem George Smith and House Floor Leader Frank Twitty are without opposition for renomination. Several incumbent minority leaders such as Rep. John Greer of Lanier, Rep. Downing Musgrove of Clinch, and Reps. Charles Gowen and Bernard Nightingale of Glynn also are unopposed.

There are many torrid fights, however, including three in the Greater Atlanta area. And in other races across the state several former legislators are attempting comebacks after defeats two years ago.

With possibly one exception, the voters will select an entirely new 54-member Senate under Georgia custom of rotating senatorial seats among the counties of each senatorial district.

The possible exception is the 52nd district senatorial seat, which if filled every year by the state's most populous county of Fulton. Sen. G. Everett Millican, veteran legislator and work horse of the Voters of Fulton, DeKalb and Cobb Counties will go to the polls Wednesday to choose county officers in many closely contested races. Interest is high in the primary in these counties this year and registration of voters is at an all-time peak.

WSB-TV, Radio Set For Election Returns

Election returns will take the spotlight on WSB-TV and radio Wednesday night.

Press Gallery, presented as a public service by Atlanta Newspapers, Inc., will originate from the newsroom of The Atlanta Constitution at 9:30 p. m. when Ralph McGill, Constitution editor, and M. L. St. John, political writer, will interview the various candidates on teevee. Don Elliott will give up-to-the-minute returns.

Latest returns will be featured on other telecasts from the newsroom at 10:15 p. m. and 10:30 p. m. WSB-radio will carry returns at 7:15 p. m., 8:30 p. m., 10:35 p. m. and 11 p. m.

West Seeks Guarantees In German Election Notes

By BENJAMIN WELLES

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

LONDON, May 13—The United States, British and French governments proposed to the Soviet Union today that an "impartial commission"—preferably but not necessarily United Nations—should immediately determine whether there exist in the Soviet zone of Germany and in the federal republic conditions necessary for the holding of free elections.

As soon as the report of such a commission is available, the Western powers added, their representatives should confer with those of the Soviet Union on the early holding of free elections throughout Germany and also on the guarantees that the government formed by such elections would need until a German peace treaty might come into effect.

Finally, because the "question of freedom is inseparable from the problem of elections," the Western powers declared, the Soviet Union would have to accept that an all-German government be guaranteed its full freedom "before and after" a peace treaty has been negotiated.

The Western proposals, which answered the Soviet notes of March 10 and April 9 urging early power talks on the unification of Germany and a peace treaty, were transmitted to Moscow today. After the envoys of the three Western powers had handed the virtually identical replies to the Soviet foreign ministry the texts were

Davis, Jones Confident on Primary Eve

State Registration
Put at 1,200,000

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Baxter Jones Jr. wound up his campaign for Congress Tuesday night on the eve of the state-wide primary with an 11th-hour record-side against the voting record of incumbent Rep. James C. Davis.

Describing his opponent for the Fifth District congressional post as "a one-third Democrat," the young attorney charged Davis consistently opposed "progressive" legislation backed by Democratic leaders.

Attorney J. H. Kennerly, who spoke for Davis, charged "dictatorial labor leaders are spending thousands of dollars to defeat Judge Davis."

VICTORY PREDICTIONS

He reiterated Davis' stand against FEPC, socialized medicine and the "civil rights" program of the administration.

Victory claims were made by Davis and Jones.

Over the state generally, the vote is expected to be light because of absence of state-wide battles.

Estimates run between 300,000 and 400,000. Registration exceeds 1,200,000.

Georgians will vote Wednesday for an entire slate of congressmen, an entire slate of state legislators, seven statehouse leaders, several court positions and a number of county officers over the state.

OPEN AT 7

Polls will open at 7 a. m. and close at 6 p. m., except in Fulton, DeKalb and Cobb counties where they will remain open until 7 p. m.

Jones' election-eve forum was a voters' rally held "town meeting style" at the Candler Park Men's Club. An overflow crowd attended.

Jones compared Davis' record with that of Senator Russell who he said has supported important party measures 80 per cent of the time.

"I would undertake," he declared, "to be more of a Democrat than our present congressman."

Only one statehouse office is under contest. Public Service Commissioner Allan Chappell of Americus is opposed by Ray Birdsell of Decatur. Three Supreme Court justices, two judges of the Court of Appeals, one Public Service commissioner, and four congressmen will be formally renominated without opposition.

There are contests in five of the 10 congressional districts—highlighted by the races in the Ninth and Fifth Districts. Phil Landrum

Reds Say Pact Admits Inhumane PW Treatment

MUNSAN, Wednesday, May 14—(INS)—Communist troops today made an expected attack on the United Nations on the basis of a "ransom note" signed to free Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd from the hands of Communist war prisoners on South Korea's Koje Island.

During a 22-minute armistice session at Panmunjom this morning, the chief Red delegate, General Nam Il, charged that the note "openly admitted" the Allies were guilty of inhumane treatment of war prisoners.

Substance of the note had earlier been virtually disavowed by General Clark, Allied Far East commander, and by the U. S. Defense department in Washington.

Justices Weigh Verdict On Steel; Senators Vote Pay Board Power Cut

Banking Unit Extends Wage, Price, Rent Lid

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The Senate Banking Committee voted tonight to continue wage-price controls to next March 1 but to strip the Wage Stabilization Board of dispute-settling authority.

The committee also voted to extend rent control and authority to allocate scarce essential materials through June 30, 1953.

President Truman had asked that all controls—wage, price, rent, and allocation restrictions—be extended through June 30, 1954. The present law expires June 30 this year.

STEEL AFTERMATH

The action on WSB power to step into disputes is an outgrowth of the steel crisis. There has been strong criticism in Congress of the amount of the pay raises the board recommended in that situation and also of its recommendation for the union shop.

There are variable forms of the union shop but generally it requires all workers join a union within a specified time after they go on the payroll.

The vote on extension of wage-price controls to next March 1 was 8 to 4.

SHAKEUP IN PLAN

The vote on stripping the WSB of dispute-settling powers was 7 to 3. The approved plan also calls for reorganization of the board. Among other things, it would be set up as an all-public body.

On the record board, the public, labor and industry are equally represented with six members each.

Korea Prison Command Again Shifted

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, in Korea, May 14—General Van Fleet yesterday named a new commander for the prison camp at Koje Island off the south coast of Korea.

This latest appointment, like the others, stemmed from the seizure of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd by Communist prisoners on the island and his incarceration in their compound for 78 hours.

The latest commander of Koje is Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, assistant division commander of the 2nd Infantry Division. Boatner succeeds Brig. Gen. Charles F. Colson who held the command less than five days.

The change in command came after General Clark, United Nations commander of Far East forces, in effect had disavowed the note from Colson to Communists holding Dodd as hostage.

Colson's note said Communist prisoners of war had been killed by UN forces and declared "there will be no more forcible screening or any rearming of prisoners of war in this camp nor will any

We're at War, U. S. Argues; Debate Ends

WASHINGTON, May 13—Government counsel argued in the U. S. Supreme Court today that the President's seizure of the steel industry was justified and must be upheld because "we are at war."

The statement by Philip B. Perlman, acting attorney general, was quickly challenged by Justice Robert H. Jackson, who asked whether the President had not "expressly disclaimed" that a war existed and had called the fighting in Korea a "police action."

Justice Jackson added that "it seems like war" but he wondered what the administration's position actually was and "what it is inviting us into."

Perlman said: "You can say without fear of contradiction that these are war conditions."

Oral arguments in the history-making controversy ended at 3:30 p. m. and the nine justices took the issue under advisement. Informed guessing is that the court will rule in three weeks.

Justice Jackson told Arthur J. Goldberg, general counsel of the Lumber Fire Loss Here At $300,000

By BILL DIEHL

A roaring fire whipped by high winds raged through the Willingham-Tift Lumber Company, 866 Murphy Ave., S. W., late Tuesday afternoon, destroying an estimated $300,000 worth of high-grade lumber and mill equipment.

Fireman Joe Hardin, of Fire Company No. 2, was slightly injured by a falling ladder. He received a gash in the forehead and a minor skull fracture was treated at Grady Hospital.

Gordon L. Wilbanks, 34, of Station No. 14 suffered a back injury. Neither was seriously hurt, hospital attaches said.

INSURED

The flames, swept by a stiff breeze, spread through five lumber sheds in a matter of minutes and ate away an estimated 1,000,000 board feet of lumber. Also destroyed were several machines valued at thousands of dollars.

Late Tuesday night eight pump trucks were still pouring water on the blaze.

The estimate was made by R. G. Jones, secretary-manager of the company, who said an actual damage estimate would not be possible until a complete study of the yard was made. There was insurance.

SPEED SAVES OAY

Fast action on the part of the several fire companies which answered the three-alarm call prevented the fire from destroying the entire 13-acre lumber yard. Fighting with flame boiling over their heads, the firemen succeeded in water-logging the main warehouse and prevented the fire from spreading more than halfway through the yard.

The main mill and warehouse, although charred black on the

10 Ex-Klan Members Convicted

Six Sentenced in N. C. Kidnap Cases

By RICHARD H. PARKE
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

WILMINGTON, N. C., May 13—The federal government won an important victory here today against the Ku Klux Klan when Judge Don Gilliam in U. S. District Court found 10 of the 11 former members of the hooded order guilty of kidnapping and conspiracy. He acquitted the eleventh defendant.

The case marked the first time the government has invoked the federal anti-kidnaping law against the Klan, according to the Department of Justice.

LINDBERGH LAW
The department said it might again invoke the statute, known as the Lindbergh Law, in other cases involving the Klan.

The defendants were accused specifically of flogging a white man and woman and carrying them across the North Carolina line near Fair Bluff, 50 miles west of here. The flogging was part of a series of similar attacks allegedly carried on by the Klan last fall in Columbus County, N. C., and in adjacent Horry County, S. C.

Judge Gilliam, who heard the case without a jury, sentenced Early L. Brooks, 44, former exalted cyclops of the Fair Bluff Klavern, to five years in prison on each of two counts of kidnapping and conspiracy, terms to run concurrently.

EX-POLICE CHIEF
Brooks, a former police chief, received a two-year jail sentence last Saturday following his conviction at a state trial in nearby Whiteville in connection with another Columbus County flogging.

The judge sentenced four defendants, James R. Hayes, 36; Ross Enzor, 46; Horace Strickland, 41, a former deputy sheriff, and Pittman Strickland (no relation) to three years on each count, also concurrently. One defendant, Carl Richardson, 28, drew two years on each count, to be served concurrently.

Four defendants were sentenced, but placed on probation for three years. They were Steve Edmund, 26, and L. C. Worley, 25, both two years on each count, and Bobby Brooks, 18, son of Early Brooks, and Sherwood Miller, 27, both one year on each count.

ONE ACQUITTED
George Mills, 18, brother of Sherwood, was acquitted.

The victims of the flogging that occurred on the night of Oct. 6, 1951, were Mrs. Dorothy D. Martin, 28, and Ben Grainger, 40, both of Fair Bluff. The defendants were accused of driving them across the state line into South Carolina and beating them with a leather strap. The couple testified yesterday the Klansmen released them after warning them to "go home, quit drinking and go to church."

Judge Gilliam, before passing sentence, criticized the defendants for setting themselves up as "self-appointed guardians of the community's morals."

The federal kidnaping law under which the men were convicted was passed in 1932 as a result of the abduction of Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son. The statute forbids the transportation of kidnaped persons across state borders and permits the death penalty if a jury so recommends.

Arnall Expects 'Penny' Hike In Food Costs

CLEVELAND, May 13 (AP)—Some food prices will increase soon but the boosts will amount to "only pennies" in the housewife's budget, Price Stabilizer Ellis G. Arnall said today.

"The average family is going to have to spend a few pennies more each week for some foods," he said in a speech. "But I am confident that the great system of American competition will operate to keep those pennies at a minimum."

DETAILS SOON
The OPS, he continued, made a study of prices, and "our findings are that earnings of super markets and chain stores are such that they are entitled to some increases."

Arnall said a detailed announcement about the increases would be made in a few days.

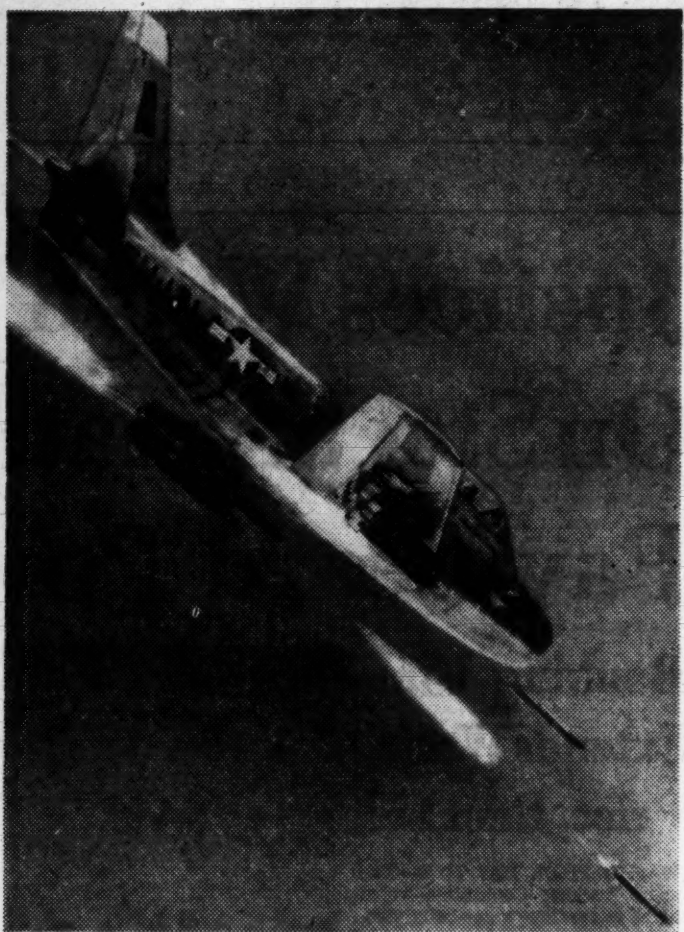

He said the "recent and continuing barrage" by business in an effort to have price controls dropped "is about as short-sighted and ill-advised as attack as could now be made."

CONFUSING EFFECT
If the effect is to confuse people, the former Georgia governor continued, that objective in some areas at least is being attained.

He listed corn flakes, corn meal, bread, vanilla, cookies, milk, ice cream, bananas, onions, potatoes and sweet potatoes as now being at their highest price peaks.

Baptists Moving on Miami

MIAMI, Fla., May 13—(INS)—Approximately 16,000 Southern Baptists are expected to be in Miami tomorrow for the opening of the 95th Southern Baptist Convention.

More than half will be "messengers"—the official representatives of Baptist churches in 22 states.

Altogether, the denomination has 28,289 churches and 7,373,498 members.

The convention is made up of members who have been selected by their churches, but it does not have the power to interfere with the autonomy of any church.

The theme of the convention is "Magnifying the Church." Such problems as world peace, drug addiction and social welfare will be discussed.

Ralph Ferrell of Miami will open the five-day gathering tomorrow with the welcoming address. Dr. R. E. Milam of Portland, Ore., will give the response.

Dr. J. D. Grey of New Orleans, president of the convention, will deliver the president's address tomorrow, while Dr. Ramsey Polard of Knoxville, Tenn., will deliver the opening convention sermon.

Cream Vendor Feud Spurs Yale Riot

New York Times News Service, Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 13—A wild free-for-all that resembled a riot resulted today when hundreds of Yale students took sides in a fight between two mobile ice cream dealers battling over a choice site near the campus to peddle their wares.

Before the students were driven back inside the campus gate by 40 club-swinging policemen and a cold stream of water brought into play by the local fire department, several undergraduates had been injured and four students placed under arrest. The two ice cream dealers—representing rival firms—a good humor man and a humpty dumpty man—were also jailed.

REPRESENTING RIVAL FIRMS
While unpremeditated the melee has been a-building for the last three days. During that period the students, perhaps overly-exuberant because tomorrow is the last day of school, have been watching the good humor man and the humpty dumpty man jockey for a position outside the school post office on Elm Street.

The dispute between the two men became so vitriolic that today, at noon, the police ordered them both to move along. This act aroused the ire of the students.

The undergraduates, most of them freshmen, began to jeer the police from their dormitory windows. Paper bags filled with water started to fall on Elm Street dropped by students in the windows above.

Attracted by the noise and excitement, the students began pouring from their rooms onto the street. A motorist became stalled in the swarm of students. His windows were broken and as he fled someone let the air out of his tires.

Now several fist fights erupted between good humor boosters and their humpty dumpty adversaries. Assistant Dean Lewis M. Wiggin pleaded with the students to go back to their rooms. He was ignored.

The milling crowd of students now numbered about 1,000 according to one Yale dean and about 1,500 according to the police. As the undergraduates started to organize, a march toward the Taft Hotel, a block away, the police riot squad was called. About 80 policemen were rushed to the scene.

Among them was Police Chief Howard Young who said angrily, "this is a mob and we're treating them as such." He sent for a hose company from the fire department.

By agreement with the university the police do not go into the campus of the university. Traditionally a riot at the school is considered quelled when the students are driven back through the gates and into the campus.

And so the policemen charged into the undergraduates to try to force them back through the gate. They swung their clubs freely and one dean reported "several skulls were cracked." Later it was said by university authorities that while several students were injured by the policemen, none was seriously hurt.

By now the scene about the college was a wild one. Firecrackers were exploding. Pillows and empty beer cans floated through the air. Here and there students chanted, "we want ice cream. We want ice cream." The undergraduates were light-hearted but the police were in deadly earnest.

Both the humpty dumpty man and the good humor man were arrested charged with breach of the peace. Four students were charged with either inciting a riot, breach of the peace or interfering with a police officer.

Truman May Speak in Ala.

WASHINGTON, May 13—(AP)—President Truman may speak next month in Alabama, a center of the Southern revolt over his civil rights program.

Senator Hill (Dem., Ala.) said today after a conference with the President that he is "very hopeful" Mr. Truman will accept an invitation to speak at dedication of the Widow's Creek steam plant, new development of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Hill said the President did not commit himself definitely.

Strike Chief 'Fed Up' in Oil Parley

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP)—The nation-wide oil strike continued today with no firm prospect of quick settlement despite a Wage Stabilization Board statement that "considerable progress has been made" toward settling some of the disputes.

A hundred or more oil executives, representing major companies across the country, and top officials of a score of oil unions spent the day in separate meetings with wage board members.

The board itself went to work on six local settlements, to see whether they are approvable under anti-inflation regulations. Another obvious aim is to see if anything in the local agreements lays out a pattern for a general settlement.

The walkout of an estimated 90,000 oil workers, starting its third week, has cut off an estimated 35 per cent of the nation's oil production.

With civilian flying already sharply curtailed and even the military cut back to conserve high-octane aviation gasoline, the pinch beginning to be felt by motorists in some areas. For instance an official of a gasoline retailers' association reported today that 75 of 250 member stations in the Gary Hammond area of Northwestern Indiana had dry tanks and 75 per cent expected to be dry by Thursday. The last refinery in the area was closed by pickets.

The strike is under the direction of three union chiefs—O. A. Knight of the CIO Oil Workers, J. J. McKenna for a score of independents, and O. V. Clover for the AFL unions on strike at oil fields, pipelines and refineries.

After Chairman Nathan P. Feinsinger adjourned a five-minute formal meeting at the start of today's negotiations, McKenna said he was "fed up."

He told reporters "I have no other alternative" than to await a formal call from the wage board. But Knight admonished: "Don't pull away from us now," and the three union chiefs then met with a panel of the board to give them their version of the present status of negotiations.

Harriman, Kerr Point to Democrats' 20-Year Record

By HAROLD HINTON
New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution
WASHINGTON, May 13—Two rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination agreed on one thing here today—that any candidate running on their party's record for the past 20 years can beat any man who has to defend the course the majority of the Republican Party has followed during that period.

W. Averell Harriman, mutual security administrator, made his first public political speech since his endorsement by the New York state Democratic convention, and Senator Kerr (Dem., Okla.) opened his Washington headquarters with a news conference in which he outlined his views.

Of the two, Harriman was the more specific in attacking individuals. He recalled that Senator Taft (Rep., Ohio) voted against the extension of selective service in 1941, adding that "Taft is on record as opposing everything which has made our country strong and great in the past 20 years."

As for General Eisenhower, Harriman said the supreme commander has plainly stated his political position in his observation that "my views are similar to the views of the Republican Party."

"I am living in my generation," Harriman continued. "not in a past generation. It's a thrilling life."

He told his audience that he is in the presidential race not as a "favorite son" from New York but as an active, persistent candidate. A questioner asked whom he thought he would have to beat to obtain the Democratic nomination at Chicago next July.

"I am not going to talk about any Democratic candidates," he replied. "They are all fine fellows. I'm the man they'll have to beat."

To another inquiry, he answered, "I believe I could beat Ike."

He was asked whether he would have intervened, had he been chief executive, in the Korean war. He answered that he likes to think he would have had the courage to take the prompt action President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson accomplished at that time. Had they not done as they did, he said, the world would have gone down parallel to its failure then to take action over the Japanese invasion of Manchuria and the German seizure of the Rhineland.

Today Is Election Day, So Vote!

This is where we came in—as a nation. And this is where we will go out—if we go out as a nation.

This is election day. Congressmen will be chosen. Counties will choose legislators and county officials.

These are the people who represent us—who reflect us and our wishes. They are a mirror which presents a picture of the electorate.

We don't get any better government, local or national, than we deserve.

First off, of course, be sure and vote. Vote, even if it is an uninformed vote. Maybe the law of averages will let you pick the more desirable candidate in about half the choices.

But better still, go to the trouble of having some information. Telephone the League of Women Voters. Consult some person, not in office, who is known to be interested in public affairs. Seek information.

Second, don't be fooled by last-minute slanders and sensations. It is a trick of some candidates on the day before the election to try and scatter-shot their opponents with a lot of charges, most of which are distorted or false. (As an example of this sort of political campaigning, take that by Candidate Robert Carpenter.)

A good, sound rule is to forget about any charge made by any candidate the last two or three days before a race. If the charges are accusations which have merit or which will stand up, they would have been made long before. Last-minute "revelations" are made late because there isn't time to examine and refute them.

So, forget them. Keep in mind that costs of government have gone up. We demand and get a lot of services our parents didn't ask for. Our streets must be paved, our garbage must be collected, our automobiles provided with better and wider streets, our children with more schools as our cities grow—and so on.

Government is us. How do you look in the mirror? Vote today. We are a government of ballots. This is where we came in and where we will go out—as a free people—if we ever go out. We will if we don't vote our convictions.

their stories, the phenomenon deserves investigation by the Society of Psychical Research.

"Be that as it may, on March 23, 1950, Phillip Potter, a Baltimore Sun correspondent who couldn't believe his eyes when he read the statement, called Taft and once again asked him what he had told McCarthy. According to Potter, Taft said on March 23 just what he had been reported as saying on March 22. Potter reported this to his newspaper. Taft explained, according to Potter, that he was pleased to see the reaction to McCarthy was 'pretty good on the whole, except here in Washington.' Taft has never made any protest to Potter."

Despite his denial, these facts bear out that Taft did approve McCarthy's method of shooting into a crowd on the chance that some of the accusations might hit home. Come to think of it, the Ohio senator's amazing record amounts to just about that. He has been wrong so many times that it is difficult to remember when he was right.

After Preparedness, Let's Stay Prepared

A convention speaker's subject is listed as "After Preparedness—What?"

This could be adapted to almost any group in the American economy—farmers, industrialists, credit men, banks and all the rest. It could also be applied to all of us as a national unit and we think we have the right answer, to wit:

"Let's stay prepared!"

We have had far too much of this taking advantage of the national emergency for personal gain and of thinking in terms of individual interests ahead of national welfare and survival.

We have had far too much of this business of grabbing at the public purse when the stakes are the very existence of the nation.

So, after we reach a point where we can feel reasonably secure militarily, we will have achieved the immediate objective. The ones then will be on us to stay prepared; to maintain and keep the strength necessary year in and year out to protect the freedom and greatness that is America.

We can never afford to gamble again on the wishful thought that all the people of the world are our friends and that this land is our oyster by divine right. It will remain ours and it will remain free in proportion to our work and our will to keep it that way.

It is time that some of us revised our thinking from "what America can do for me" to "what I can do for America."

When a Jet Pilot Says, 'Fill 'er Up'

Two jet fighters burn as much fuel in an hour as an entire World War II fighter squadron.

That's a good thing to keep in mind as you read about strikes in the petroleum industry and their effect on our security.

We Should Not Forget Sacrifices in Korea

The steel controversy is causing considerable discussion in the country as to how grave the emergency in which the nation now finds itself. There are too many who minimize it and others who perhaps go too far in describing the emergency's extent.

One measure, which tends too often to be forgotten, is the casualty figures from Korea. Anti-Communist casualties, as reported on April 29, are 419,456. American losses alone are as follows:

Wounded	78,236
Dead	16,898
Missing	12,532

Total 107,666
Only the Civil War and World Wars I and II cost the American people more casualties. The Korean losses have been in the best of causes, the halting of armed aggression that threatened the free way of life. They should not be forgotten here at home for so much as a single day.

Atlantan Commends Editorial Deploring Injection of Race Issue in Campaign

Atlanta—Congratulations on the editorial captioned "Why Inject Prejudice Into Congress Race?"

Emphasizing its abhorrence of the incendiary race charges made against Baxter Jones by apostles of his opponent, Judge Davis, The Constitution asserts: "We cannot condemn too strongly what seems to us an entirely unjustified injection of the racial issue into the congressional race in our district—especially so since it is done on behalf of the candidate, and not forthrightly in his name."

The editorial continues: "This sort of vicious business gives aid and comfort also to those who wish to persecute other minorities."

"We hope Judge Davis himself recognizes this and that he disavows the 'ad,' which carefully refrains from saying it has his endorsement. His opponent is not a teacher at any Negro institution."

The Constitution's hopeful view that Judge Davis might disown the "ad" was foredoomed. The lack of forthrightness was of a piece with the whole desperate campaign against Mr. Jones, a man of ability, integrity and courage.

So to the point is this assertion in The Constitution editorial it cannot be repeated too often:

"This sort of vicious business gives aid and comfort also to those who wish to persecute other minorities."

Surely, Mr. Norman Elsas, leader of the little group of earnest Negroes, whose sponsored the detestable advertisement, must know there are minorities other than the Negro minority.

If Mr. Elsas, in his sorry tower of race prejudice, is not aware of this fact let him consult Mr. Scott Candler, his chief coadjutor in this assault on Americanism. As for Mr. Candler, he must win when he reads of the strides that Methodism is making toward racial understanding and justice.

Alabaman Recalls Constitution Writers

Greenville, Ala.—My father-in-law, J. A. Day, of R. F. D. 3, Greenville, Ala., has one of three rose cutting. He received as a premium for a one-year subscription to your paper in the fall of 1893 when it was still a weekly publication. The bush is still a prized possession in the old home yard.

Mr. Day also speaks of the able writers in that day—Bill Arp, Sarge Plunkett, Joel Chandler Harris, Betsy Hamilton, William Mosley. He remembers a novel by Mr. Harris, "Aaron in the Wildwood."

Mr. Day would like to know if any of the officials of that day are connected with the paper now. He was 80 on March 3 and is still hale and hearty.

J. C. FOSTER.

Editor's Note: We are interested in the old rose bush. In fact, we are thrilled by the news of it. All the writers you mentioned have passed on, but Joel Chandler Harris Jr. is connected with the national advertising company which handles that department for The Constitution.

Where Seek Ye For the Truth?

Atlanta—Not long ago I heard the story told to a coroner's jury of a young lady who became so confused about life she killed herself. This was the result of having her Christian faith destroyed by a man who was a teacher of philosophy. This came to mind when I read your Pat Livingston's report of a meeting of liberals at Briarcliff Hotel in which it was stated they do not have to rely on the Bible for the "core of religious truth." Since Jesus and the resurrection is the very core of all religious truth, where else will we find it?

Revenue Bureau Sets a Precedent

Moody, N. Y.—I should like to know if the Internal Revenue Bureau has established a precedent for all nonprofessional writers when they permitted General Eisenhower to figure the income from his book "Crusade in Europe" as capital gains instead of income, thus saving him many thousands of dollars?

Since I've had many years of homemaking, I feel I know that subject, but I am not a professional writer.

If I decide to write a book on homemaking, could I assume I'd get the same consideration from the Internal Revenue Bureau?

Suggests Movement To Draft MacArthur

Atlanta—Let us not fool ourselves any longer. What the U. S. A. needs to save it is a man for president with the dynamism of Washington (and also the rhetoric) and the self-confidence of an Abe Lincoln.

It seems that the only man who seems fit is the five-star general, Douglas MacArthur of Wisconsin. I don't think age should make any difference. A draft-MacArthur movement should be started.

A Rhyme a Day

ELECTION DAY

This is the day for us to vote . . . so let's put on the hat and coat . . . and hurry to the polling place . . . to help somebody win his race. From information we have had . . . they all are good and all are bad . . . each small mistake each one has made . . . has been exposed, exposed, displayed . . . the skeletons of naughty acts . . . are clothed again with meaty facts . . . in truth, I think, I've never seen . . . so many men who were so mean.

But, wait a minute, I am wrong . . . I've just heard that they all belong . . . and go to church and Sunday school . . . and observe the Golden Rule . . . that they're devoted to their wives . . . and lead such pure, unspotted lives . . . that we should really be ashamed . . . to listen while they are defamed.

But our inalienable right . . . to vote is something to excite . . . our interest, no matter what . . . we hear of bunk and tommyrot . . . it's up to us to exercise . . . the privilege free men should prize . . . we leave it to you to decide . . . which is Jekyll, which is Hyde.

Reluctant Voters, Wherever You Are

The scout troop was holding its meeting and the leader asked his charges about their good deeds for the week. "Me and two other boys helped an old lady across the street," a lad said. "But why did it take three of you?" the scoutmaster wanted to know. And the scout said, "She didn't want to go."

On this, the dawn of an election day too many registered voters are like the old lady—hesitant at least, about going to the polls. They need a little persuasion, given pressure.

"Too busy to go vote," some of them are saying. "No time to wait in the line at the box." We'll all have plenty of time, and perhaps manacles, on our hands if democracy ever fails and we wind up behind the barbed wire of a concentration camp.

The Kremlin scores when folks stay home on election day.

"What good will one vote do?" the reluctant voter says in defending the inertia which keeps him from his duty. "Inertia is that which if a woman has it is nervous exhaustion, but in the case of her husband is sheer laziness."

What good will one vote do? Added to a neighbor's and his neighbor's and on around the block, one vote becomes the margin of victory. Remember the football games that have been won by that point after touchdown!

"But I don't know anything about the issues and the candidates," says the housewife, as an excuse for not casting a ballot.

Whose fault is ignorance of the issues and the candidates? The information is accessible. In a free country one has a right to learn.

It's still not too late. And the polls are open today until 6 p. m.—in some places even an hour longer.

So the politicians run the country anyway, do they, they have the elections rigged?

If they do, then it's by default, by the kind of delinquency of which the nonvoter will be guilty.

Or if you are one of the lagging ones, maybe it is your rheumatism that's bothering you or your feet are killing you and you don't see how you can hobble to the polling box.

Well, a lot of fine young Americans are on crutches or learning to use artificial legs or lying helpless in hospital beds because they went to fight to protect your right to the franchise.

Get out and vote. If you can't make it unassisted, some good scout who believes in our kind of government will help you. I've seen voters at the boxes in ambulances, marking their ballots from a stretcher.

Where there is a will, surely a way will open to the polls.

Harold Martin

Five Per Centers Are Mere Pikers

PANAMA—An election in the Republic of Panama is a matter of some interest, I trust, to the folks back home, since with the Panama Canal bisecting the Isthmus, it is of considerable importance to us whether or not the Panamanians have a stable government, and one friendly to the United States.

So far as I have been able to observe, strolling about the streets, there is little sign that the electorate is greatly excited. The only overt acts of opposition that seem to have occurred has been the painting of moustaches on the portraits of the rival candidates as they peer down from the multitude of posters stuck to the walls of the local buildings.

This city, in fact, should be the mecca for people all over the world who like to paint moustaches on posters. Every building in town is scrofulous with these posters.

A Panamanian candidate is not content with merely having one of his pictures on a building. His followers put up hundreds, all in rows, so that the solid wall may be covered with the beaming visage of Senator Remon or Senator Chiari, the presidential rivals.

The usual loudspeaker trucks patrol the streets, making the days and nights hideous with their squalling, but there is one angle of personal propagandizing which stateside candidates have fortunately so far overlooked. Small colored boys wander the streets singing calypso songs in which they tell the life history of some candidate for mayor or city council.

American sentiment here seems about equally divided between the two candidates. Remon, the former chief of police, is considered to be fairly well disposed toward the United States, but so is his opponent, Chiari.

Remon, since he controls the police, would no doubt give the republic a stable administration if he were elected, though how honest it would be, nobody will predict. Graft and general corruption that would cause the electorate in the United States to froth at the mouth causes no excitement here. The Panamanian is puzzled at the way we can get worked up about five per centers and mink coats.

To him five per cent is a very moderate price for a man close to the government to charge for using his influence in high places, and a mink coat or a deep freeze would seem to him a shabby reward. His politicians expect at least a sugar plantation or a cattle ranch for the exercise of their favors.

Editor's Note: This was written prior to the Sunday election in Panama, the outcome of which has not yet been determined.

Bainbridge Post-Searchlight

There is a slump in the chicken market. If everybody will eat chicken like mad for a few weeks, the price of beef will come down. There is no better way to solve a problem in economics than to eat our way out.

German Situation

Approaches a Climax

The situation in Germany is approaching a climax. The next few weeks are going to be dangerous and the stakes are high. In fact, the security of all Western Europe hangs in the balance and the NATO countries can follow no other course than that which will integrate West Germany into plans for defense against Communist aggression.

The Reds are threatening a new blockade of Berlin and predicting a German civil war if the West German Republic goes ahead with its contractual agreements to integrate its manpower and industry with the West. They also threaten reprisals against German leaders.

We may as well face one fact. The Russians are fully aware that West Germany holds the balance which can tip the scales to the free European nations against aggressive Communist plans for domination of the continent.

They have said that they will not "tolerate" rearmament of Western Germany. Whether they will risk war to prevent it is a chance the West must take. It is accepted almost as a certainty by the democracies that without West Germany plans for European defense will fail.

In the meantime, the Bonn government has said that neither threats nor terror will prevent "our federal republic from going with the West on the path to unity in peace and freedom." From that we can take heart. A united Germany on the Russian plan would be a Germany dominated by the Russians with fatal consequences to eventual world peace.

The West's only choice is to go ahead with its plans, disregarding Soviet threats and reprisals and at the risk of war. In all probability, the Reds will not precipitate an all out war now. If they ever should, a strong West Germany on our side could be the difference between victory and defeat.

A $2,500,000 Expression Of Faith in South's Future

The South's steel-making capacity jumped 112,000 tons a year yesterday as the Atlantic Steel Company ran the first 60-ton batch of molten metal from its new electric furnace, largest of its kind in the region.

The installation increases the capacity of the Atlanta plant to 300,000 tons annually—steel for preparedness, steel for the ever-growing domestic needs of the Southeast.

In the words of Atlantic Steel's dynamic president, Robert S. Lynch, the addition is "visible evidence of the company's and the employees' faith in the continued progress of the South."

We are grateful for that faith and for the tangible expression of it in the building of the facility and in the company's plans for further expansion.

Our congratulations to this fine concern which has grown from the Atlanta Steel Hoop Company of 1901—plant and equipment cost, $57,413—into a corporation which confidently spends $2,500,000 for one furnace.

Senator Taft Makes An Amazing Denial

The amazing Senator Taft now denies that he ever advised Senator McCarthy to "Keep talking, and if one case doesn't work out, proceed with another." He said on a radio quiz show recently that he never made that remark.

His astounding inconsistencies are topped by this latest reversal in the face of facts. But now Senator Taft says he has never advised McCarthy at all.

However, in the April Harper's, Richard Rovere quoted Senator Taft as saying then that the reporters misunderstood and misquoted him. However, Rovere goes on:

"If that is true, if he was misunderstood and misquoted in the same way by the Associated Press, the United Press, and the New York Times, whose representatives say they did not consult one another before writing

Steel Told 'Go to Hell' By Murray

3,000 Convention
Delegates Cheer

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—CIO President Philip Murray told the steel industry to "go to hell" today and accused the companies of violating the "rules of common decency."

"They are not going to get away with it," Murray said.

In a blistering opening address to his United Steelworkers' sixth biennial convention, Murray made it clear that the union will insist on getting the entire 26 cents an hour increase recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board.

3,000 CHEER

The 3,000 delegates stood and cheered when Murray told the industry to "go to hell" for trying to bargain down the three-installment wage and fringe raise proposed by the board.

He said the industry has "resorted to slander and deliberate misrepresentation" in its fight with the steel union. The operators have "arrogantly defied and wilfully violated" the rules of common decency," Murray said.

"They are not going to get away with it. . . . We are not going to allow it," the union chief told the cheering delegates.

HEAPS INVECTIVE

For 70 minutes Murray heaped invective on the steel makers, accusing them of "malicious lying," "corporate greed" and "filth" during their bitter six-month contract battle.

The industry, he charged, has shown no respect for any code of ethics and has spent "millions of dollars of taxpayers' money in slanderous advertising" designed to "deceive the American people."

Murray said the "rules of the game" and their "obligations to the nation" require the operator to bargain "on the basis of the wage board recommendations."

"DRAGOONED"

Murray said the union wanted to bargain with the industry on a new contract but was "dragooned" into taking the case to the board by the steel industry. He told the delegates the WSB "has given you much less than you hoped to get."

Beside a 17½ cents an hour wage raise and an 8½ cents increase in fringe benefits in an 18-month contract, the board recommended the union shop.

The industry has opposed the union shop and refuses to grant a wage increase without assurance of an offsetting price boost. The producers say the 33 a ton permitted by stabilization rules is not enough.

THE RIDGWAYS IN CALIFORNIA
General and Wife and Son, Matt Jr.

Ridgway Says He'll Face Same Foe in NATO Post

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway returned home today from 17 months of Asia's hot war with a minimum of fanfare and deeply resolved to "put my shoulder to the wheel" as NATO's new commander.

He will succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Paris late this month as supreme Allied commander, Europe. Only 48 hours before his arrival he turned over the United Nations and Far East Commands to Gen. Mark Clark in Tokyo.

There were no public appearances here for the general and his family by Ridgway's own request. He had the air of a busy man with a big job to do.

"SAME STRUGGLE"

The energetic 57-year-old general told a press conference at Sixth Army Headquarters shortly after his 9:25 a. m. arrival that both his old and new jobs, half a world apart, "have the same objective. It's the same struggle against the same vicious forces."

Ridgway would make no predictions on the outcome of the Korean armistice negotiations. He said the repudiation of terms for release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd on Kojima Island "conceivably could have very great effect" on future talks.

Ridgway pointed out that the Kojima incident "happened by deliberate design" of the Communists. "How they will exploit it by propaganda remains to be seen."

Ridgway paid high tribute to the United Nations Army in Korea.

"The United Nations had successfully carried out its first mission—to repel aggression." The second phase of the UN objective, he said, was restoration of international peace.

"We have striven by ever honorable means to reach cessation of hostilities," he declared.

FAITH IN JAPAN

Ridgway expressed "unshaken faith" in the future of democracy in Japan.

Asked if the militarists might again take over control of that country, Ridgway said:

"The present Japanese government and an overwhelming majority of the people are acutely alive to that possibility and determined it shall not happen."

He said there was no shadow of doubt that the May Day demonstration was deliberate, staged, and followed the Communist pattern.

Ridgway's big Constellation, fluttering his own four star Army flag and the blue and white United Nations emblem from twin masts, touched down at Hamilton Air Force Base, near San Francisco.

Fugitive Is Slain by Mule-Riding Trusty

PARCHMAN, Miss., May 13.—When three prisoners tried to flee the state prison farm today trusty Curt Bolin jumped on a mule and ran them down, killing one and wounding another in an exchange of shots.

A posse tracked down the third man with bloodhounds three hours after the break.

Hugh A. Craig, classification officer, said the slain convict was John E. Von Bergen, 28, of Monessen, Pa., who was serving 10 years for an armed robbery at Crystal Springs, Miss.

Craig said that a group of six men was working on truck crops on the huge Parchman farm when three of them rushed trusty guard Jim W. Smith and grabbed his rifle. Bolin was guarding another detail of prisoners who were plowing the three men knock down Smith a short distance off. When he saw and run, Bolin jumped on a plow fired on him. The shots frightened Von Bergen dead.

ARMED FORCES DAY

B-47 To Feature Military Exhibit at Lockheed Plant

By BILL DIEHL

Lockheed's new girl friend—the B-47 long-range superbomber—will be unveiled from production line to airstrip Saturday with an Armed Forces Day celebration to back up the public introduction.

Plans are completed for a mile-and-a-half long display of Air Force, Navy and Army power, with band concerts, refreshments and a look at Lockheed's assembly line in action which is expected to attract 100,000 persons to the Marietta plant.

The Armed Forces Day activities will actually begin with a downtown parade at 10:30 a. m. Saturday featuring units of the Third Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force, National Guard and college and high school ROTC, as well as mobile Army, Air Force and Lockheed displays.

FIRST PUBLIC VIEW

The Lockheed plant will be open from 10 a. m. until 6:30 p. m. with the gates closing at 5 p. m. For the first time, the public will be permitted to view the giant equipment used on Lockheed's assembly lines, the mock-up B-47 which is used as a testing plane for new equipment, the B-47 assembly line showing the plane as it is put together piece by piece, and another assembly line showing the B-29 as it is modified for Korean service.

Refreshment stands, rest areas and rest rooms will be erected and parking will be permitted at the Gate Two parking lot.

Cost of all planes and their items on exhibit will be listed. Members of the Lockheed Management Club will act as guides and hosts to explain the equipment and its functions.

SAVED BY BOMBS

One of the large drill presses on display was designed by a French underground agent during the German occupation of France in World War II. The engineer was later caught and was saved from the gallows when an air raid began just as the trap was about to be sprung.

The Navy will exhibit its leading fighters and bombers, including the P2-V Neptune, an anti-sub patrol bomber, the F2H Banshee night fighter, a Corsair and a PB4Y patrol bomber.

Air Force planes which will be on display are the B-47, B-29, F-94 all-weather interceptor, F-89 jetfighter, T-28 and T-33 jet trainers, RF-80 and RB-26 fighter and bomber. Also displayed will be an air lines Super Constellation and a CAP L-5 and C-45.

B-36 MAY FLY

If fuel can be obtained in spite of the oil strike, the entire package will be topped by a 14-plane flight led by the Air Force Big Bertha, the B-36.

Atlanta General Depot at Conley will display working exhibits of all types of cargo trucks and a cut-away engine shown in operation at the Lockheed exhibition. Latest types of recoilless rifles and other weapons will be sent from Ft. Benning and the Marietta National Guard Tank Company will display two M-4 tanks, two half-tracks and other weapons. The 902nd Air Force Reserve Wing at Dobbins will also exhibit a working landing gear, showing the wheel mechanism in action.

Ft. McPherson and the Depot also are planning to collaborate on an Armed Forces Day open house at the Conley Depot Thursday.

TOURS SLATED

Tours of the large installation's barracks, ordnance automotive school, mess halls and recreation areas will be conducted from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. and the open house will be climaxed by a military review and parade featuring the Third Army band on the drill field at 5:15 p. m.

Friday, Vice-Admiral Felix B. Stump, USN, commander of the Second Fleet in the Atlantic, will address a joint meeting of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Lions and military groups at 12:30 p. m. in the Ansley Hotel. At 6:30 p. m. he will review Army, Navy, Air Force and ROTC units of Georgia Tech at Grant Field.

Taft and Delegate Slate Grab Lead in W. Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 13.—Sen. Robert A. Taft grabbed a head start tonight in West Virginia's early primary returns, which showed him leading in presidential popularity votes and his candidates ahead in all four contests for GOP national convention delegates-at-large seats.

Taft men were outrunning the at-large candidates supporting Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower by margins of 8 and 9 to 5.

There were no returns at a late hour from the 12 delegate races in the state's six districts.

In the popularity section of the voting, Taft was running away from Harold E. Stassen by a wide margin.

Firing of Picket Backer Upheld

NEW YORK, May 13.—The U. S. Court of Appeals ruled today an employer had the right to fire a union employee who refused to cross a picket line set up by another union at a customer's plant.

The decision was two-to-one.

The ruling was made on petition filed by the National Labor Relations Board asking the court to order reinstatement of Charles Waugh as chauffeur-routeman for the Rockaway News Supply Co., Inc., distributor of newspapers and magazines in Long Island.

Returns from 91 of 2,822 precincts gave:

Taft 4,739

Stassen 960

Returns trickled in slowly. Polling places were jammed with a late rush of voters. Some precincts still had them in the two hours after the official closing time of 7:30 p. m. EST, and a near-record vote of some 500,000 was in sight.

Indications were that a trend in the delegate voting would not be firmly established perhaps for hours. The Taft people were confident of sweeping all 16 delegate seats while the Eisenhower forces fought to crack the Taft strength and name at least two.

There was utter confusion at some polling places throughout the state. A long and complicated ballot slowed the count to the point that election officials were not able to handle the rush of voters.

In one Wayne County precinct, the harassed election board simply dumped the counting job into the lap of the county clerk. They complained there should have been another five members to handle the voting.

8 Fliers Lost As Fighter, B-29 Collide

LOS ANGELES, May 13.—One man was killed and seven others were feared dead today as an Air Force B-29 and a Marine fighter plane collided during a maneuver over the Pacific Ocean near Santa Catalina Island.

Six men parachuted to safety and were picked up from the water. At least a dozen planes and several dozen boats—both naval and civilian—pressed the search for possible survivors.

The two planes smashed together at about 15,000 feet, reports indicated, with the fighter ripping the wing off the bomber which immediately burst into flames and plummeted into the Pacific.

Both planes were part of a joint Air Force-Marine exercise, with the fighters believed to be making intercept passes at a bomber formation when the accident occurred. An unidentified airman said it was a miracle that any men escaped from the spinning, smoking bomber.

Possibility that any of the seven missing men would be found alive dimmed as only seven parachutes were seen on the water immediately after the crash.

5 Men Burned to Death In Georgia Truck Wrecks

Five men were burned to death Tuesday in two separate truck wrecks in Georgia.

Two employees of the Savannah and Atlanta Railway and a dairy feed truck driver from Augusta died in the collision between the truck and a work train about 5 p. m. near Hilltonia, eight miles north of Savannah.

They have been tentatively identified as Arthur Dean, 50, of New York, Thomas Dixon, 30, of Sardis, members of the train crew, and a truck driver, Albert Hodden, about 30, of Augusta.

Trooper Ralph Temples, one of the investigating state patrolmen said the truck and train collided and the two trainmen were thrown under the truck. The truck was demolished by fire and the three bodies burned almost beyond recognition, Temples said.

The other two men died in a flaming beer truck, about 8 p. m., eight miles north of Clarksville on the Lake Burton Road.

They have tentatively been identified as John Wood of Atlanta, driver of the truck, and Charlie Duncan of Arnoldsville. According to Sheriff George N. Pardue of Habersham County the two men were also burned beyond recognition.

In making a delivery 15 minutes before the accident, Wood told the owner of the store his brakes were not holding properly. He was apparently attempting to sideswipe a bank to retard his speed when he struck a culvert and the truck burst into flames, Pardue said.

R. N. Watts, witness to the accident, said the heat from the flames was so intense that no aid could be given to the men.

Louisiana Seats New Governor

BATON ROUGE, La., May 13.—Robert F. Kennon, a lanky country judge with a "grass roots" touch, became Louisiana's 51st governor today and immediately pledged the state to a strong states' rights position in national affairs.

The 50-year-old Kennon, who handed the politically powerful Long family its worst defeat, said he was a strong believer in "the Jeffersonian principle that government governs best when it governs least."

Kennon took his oath from Chief Justice John B. Fournet before the 48 steps of the towering state capitol, which was built under the administration of the late Huey P. (Kingfish) Long, brother of Gov. Earl K. Long, whom Kennon succeeded.

The robin, the goldfinch and English sparrows are among the birds imported to United States territory by white settlers.

PULL LEVER 28A—FOR AN HONEST, FEARLESS AND EFFICIENT PUBLIC SERVANT

In the race for Solicitor of the Criminal Court of Fulton County, I feel too much time has been devoted by my opponents to personal attacks upon each other—far too little time given to the people in order that they may determine where my opponents stand. My sole interest in my entire campaign has been to demonstrate to the people of Fulton County my recognition of the seriousness of this race. I did not enter this contest to attack the character of anyone. I am not interested in running a campaign of name-calling and mud-slinging. My primary interest in the race for Fulton Criminal Court is in making the office an honestly administered trust—the property of the voters, executed by a dedicated public servant.

April 24, 1952.

Hon. James C. Davis,
House Office Building,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Judge Davis:

The facts and the truth as to what committee put the county unit system in the Fifth Congressional District are set forth in the Minutes of the Committee as follows:

On July 6, 1944, while Hon. Robert Ramspeck was serving as Congressman of this District, the Fifth District Congressional Committee was elected by the Fifth District Congressional Convention to serve until after the Democratic primary in 1946, to-wit:

Shepard Bryan, Chairman
C. Murphey Candler, Jr., Vice-Chairman
Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, Secretary

DeKalb County
James R. Bachman
Dave G. Chesnut
Mrs. Elbridge Freeborn
William Schley Howard

Fulton County
Ryburn G. Clay
William V. Crowley
William Van Houten
Baxter Maddox
E. A. Phillips
Mrs. Katherine Weatherbee

Rockdale County
W. O. Mann
G. Carl Sims

On the 3rd day of May, 1946, this Committee met and adopted rules providing for the election of a Congressman from the Fifth Congressional District by the county unit method. At that time you were presiding over the Superior Court in the Stone Mountain Circuit, and you did not qualify, as shown by the Committee records, for the position of Democratic nominee for Congressman until the 23rd day of May, 1946.

Sincerely yours,
Shepard Bryan

Doctors Urge Closer Link Between Medicine, Religion

By JOHN KISER

Closer co-ordination of medicine with psychiatry and religion was called for Tuesday by speakers at sessions of the Medical Association of Georgia here.

In the principal address of the day, Dr. R. B. Robins, of Camden, Ark., told 500 doctors at the president's dinner that mental health was the greatest medical problem in the country today. He said there should be a close liaison between the physician and the minister of religion in a campaign to help frustrated and neurotic people.

Dr. Robins, who is president of the American Academy of General Practice, said there is growing need for doctors who can help patients with emotional troubles, but he said doctors alone cannot do the job.

"The psychiatrist's couch cannot take the place of the church in solving the problems of a frustrated society," he said.

Dr. Robins praised the family doctor or general practitioner who he said has a much better opportunity to know and understand his patient than does the specialist.

Earlier in the day visiting lecturer Dr. Edward Weiss told doctors that many more patients think they have heart trouble than actually have the disease.

He said the clinical doctor must use the psychiatric approach to patients in order to determine whether their symptoms are caused by emotional conflicts or by actual organic disorders.

He said the traditional approach to a patient as just another case was dangerous because it failed to recognize the personal life of the patient as an important part in the diagnosis.

Dr. Murdock Eguen, Atlanta eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, lectured on malignant growths of the larynx. He said if cancer were caught early enough in the larynx only one vocal cord or a part of a larynx had to be removed.

"Ninety-five per cent of cases of cancer of the larynx are curable if they are discovered early," he said.

attempt be made at nominal screening."

Of this statement, written on May 10, Clark said:

"Apparently in an effort to use every means at his disposal short of armed forces to secure General Dodd's release Brigadier General Colson from information available at this time acted on his own initiative."

Colson's statement was so embarrassing to the United Nations, particularly to the armistice delegation at Panmunjom, that the Defense department issued a statement from Washington saying that Colson's note "gave several erroneous impressions" and virtually repudiated everything in it that the Communist armistice delegation can use for propaganda value at the plenary truce sessions.

It seemed likely that with Boatner in charge the policy of coddling Communist prisoners would end. Boatner, an enlisted man in the Marines before attending West Point, has a reputation for maintaining strict discipline.

In addition Boatner has lived in China and speaks Chinese. The 51-year-old general served under the late Gen. Joseph (Vinegar Joe) Stilwell as chief of staff in the China-Burma-India theater during World War II and holds several Chinese decorations.

There has long been dispute about how the prison camps on Kojima should be run. Until now UN forces have been extremely lenient despite Van Fleet's opinion all along that strict discipline would be a more efficient method of handling Communist prisoners of war.

James Manning, solicitor general of the Blue Ridge Circuit now, is unopposed for judge of the new Cobb County Circuit.

Davis, Jones See Victory On Vote Eve

of Jasper and Howard Overby of Gainesville both claimed victory in the Ninth Tuesday in a six-man race which included Orson Foster of Ellijay, Cliff Blalock of Cleveland, Mark Dunahoo of Winder, and Hoke O'Kelley of Lawrenceville.

Other contests included incumbent Eugene Cox of Camilla versus J. D. Cook of Tifton in the Second District, incumbent Sidney Camp of Newnan versus Jamie Hindsman of Moreland in the Fourth, and incumbent Don Wheeler of Alma versus the Rev. C. P. Watson of Baxley in the Eighth.

In the fiery hot Fifth District contest, Rep. Davis' headquarters claimed a clean sweep of the 14 unit votes and 65 per cent of the popular votes to be cast Wednesday.

Jones' headquarters predicted he would carry 12 of the 14 unit votes in the district and would carry 65 per cent of the popular vote. His campaign leaders predicted Jones will carry the six-unit counties of Fulton and DeKalb and lose the two-unit county of Rockdale.

As the campaign closed, Davis declared he was standing on his record of fighting for economy in government and opposing the FEPC.

Jones' headquarters said the "last-minute smear campaign by the Davis group had rebounded on Davis, costing Davis thousands of votes."

Eighty-five thousand citizens of the Fifth District are expected to cast their ballots in the congressional race. There are 183,000 voters registered in the district.

Lumber Yard Fire Damage Here Figured Past $300,000 outside, sustained only water damage on the inside.

CAUSED NOT FIXED

Although Fire Chief C. C. Styron said no immediate cause for the fire could be determined, it apparently began from a small grass fire at the northwest corner of the yard. C. G. Pope, employee, at an adjacent filling station, said a woman reported the grass fire about 5 p. m. He said he started up the street to investigate and the lumber sheds were already ablaze.

P. G. Saxton, superintendent of the company, said a night watchman first reported flames and smoke about 5:15 p. m. By the time he went to investigate, the fire was already out of control.

Hundreds of spectators crowded the streets and the railroad tracks which run parallel to the yard. Traffic was snarled on Lee and Murphy Sts. and on Stewart Ave. S. W. The Nancy Hanks, enroute from Savannah, and the Man O'War, enroute from Columbus to Atlanta, were stopped facing each other at McCall's Crossing. They were both delayed for half an hour.

2-HOUR FIGHT

Inside the yard, firemen were silhouetted against twisted machinery, flaming timber and a blazing freight car which was destroyed in the fire. Despite the intense heat and rapid spread of the flames, they had the fire under control within two hours after it

Puerto Rico's 6 Go to Russell As Florida Slate Is Cut to 42

Puerto Rico's six votes will go for Georgia's Senator Russell at the Democratic National Convention, Georgia Labor Commissioner Ben T. Hulet said Tuesday.

Returning from a convention in San Juan, Hulet wrote Senator Russell that Democratic Party leaders on that island had pledged their delegates to Russell for the presidential nomination at the July national convention.

Hulet quoted Jose A. Benitez, State Democratic chairman of Puerto Rico and executive assistant to the attorney general, and Judge A. Cecil Snyder of the Supreme Court, as stating Russell is assured of Puerto Rico's six votes. He quoted Frank Antonsanti, Democratic National Committeeman, as "speaking kindly" of Russell but predicting that the Democrats will draft Eisenhower if the Republicans don't nominate him.

In Florida, two last-minute switches of pledges and late withdrawals Tuesday bettered chances of Senator Russell winning Florida's 24 votes at the Democratic national convention from Senator Kefauver.

However, candidates pledged to Russell will be fighting each other as well as Kefauver candidates for 14 convention seats.

The Tuesday noon deadline fixed by Secretary of State R. A. Gray for withdrawal of delegate candidates found Russell with 42 pledged to him instead of more than 60 who qualified as Russell candidates.

Meanwhile, news from the senator's home town of Winter Tuesday was that Russell's old law offices in the People's Bank Building have been opened as the Russell-for-President Winder headquarters. Mrs. Betty Beckman is in charge,

Probers of Bus Crash Named

The Fulton County Board of Education, following an informal conference Tuesday with Fulton School Superintendent Paul West and Ira Dodd, assistant superintendent in charge of transportation, set up a committee to investigate the East Point school bus-train accident which claimed the life of 16-year-old Vera Lingerfeldt.

W. L. Robinson, board president, was authorized by the board to appoint the following committee: Guy Webb, chairman; Mrs. P. D. Christian and Marvin Rivers.

West said the committee will seek detailed reports from Walter R. Dorris, bus driver; the train engineer, eye-witnesses, and other persons.

The accident, termed the worst involving school children in Fulton's history, occurred Friday morning when the Montgomery-bound Crescent Limited struck a school bus carrying Roswell High

At a cost of many more millions of Dollars, we have also been building new yards and modernizing established yards to provide timesaving freight classification facilities that are among the most modern and efficient in the country.

"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor"

On Monday morning before dawn, posters of a candidate for Congress from the Fifth District were mutilated by crude appeals to race hatred. Simultaneously, both through whispering campaigns and political advertising, the race issue was injected into the Fifth District contest.

Citizens of DeKalb, Fulton and Rockdale Counties will not be deceived by this last-minute smear campaign against Baxter Jones.

As Americans and Georgians, we detest any effort to stir up violent prejudice. The only purpose of an appeal to race hatred in a political campaign is to obscure the real issues upon which citizens should make their choice.

The race attack in this campaign leads us to two firmly held convictions:

- (1) Race incitement in all political campaigns must stop, once and for all.
- (2) Irresponsible leaders who inject race into campaigns must go.

Among the South's finest traditions are decency, honor and fair play. The political resort to race hatred dishonors our region and violates the Christian ideal.

There is no room in America for those who preach the un-American doctrine of hate.

Irrespective of how the undersigned may vote on May 14, this is a statement of principle.

Court Weighs Steel Verdict After New Jabs at Seizure

United Steelworkers (CIO), that the union should understand that the court's ruling may not come promptly.

"Arguments just begin when counsel is through," he quipped. The justice said he for one would oppose "handing down decisions in this case until opinions are rendered." He said the real importance may lie in the opinions themselves.

On rare occasions the court has issued decisions and weeks later handed down opinions explaining grounds for the decisions.

URGES SPEED

Goldberg pleaded for speed because the court forbade the government to raise steel wages while the case was being considered. For all practical purposes collective bargaining with the companies has ceased, Goldberg said.

U. S. District Judge David A. Pine April 30 ordered Charles Sawyer, secretary of commerce, to give up the steel mills, ruling that the President's seizure April 9 was unconstitutional. The ruling still stands, although the U. S. Supreme Court has stayed effect until it reviews the merits.

Perlman took up the argument when court reconvened at noon today. He had less than 20 minutes left of allotted two hours and a half but he talked about 40 minutes overtime to answer questions fired at him again.

10-MINUTE REPLY

John W. Davis, 79, New York lawyer who carried the whole burden of the steel companies' oral argument, took 10 minutes in rebuttal. The court then heard Goldberg, Clifford D. O'Brien, representing the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and Harold C. Heiss, representing the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen. Perlman's basic case for seizure stands on the emergency argument. That the President took extraordinary action is conceded but defended on grounds of extraordinary conditions.

The acting attorney general, apparently feeling the point was getting lost, came back to it today with the assertion:

"What has been attempted here is to have the court treat this as a normal controversy. That is not the case."

He said there was impending "catastrophe" and the "very existence of the whole nation was threatened."

It was at this point that Perlman said, "We are at war."

Perlman also contended again no injunction should issue against government seizure because the companies had adequate remedy at law, that they could recover damages in the Court of Claims. The companies contend damages of seizure are irreparable.

The acting attorney general started to turn to the question of the Taft-Hartley Act when Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson asked if he wanted to pass over the question of "how to recover." He added, "We didn't decide that in Pewee," referring to recovery of losses awarded a coal company last year as result of government seizure and government-imposed wage increases.

The court in that case ruled it was compensable taking of property but did not settle the measure of damage that might be applied in the steel seizure. In the steel case it is contended damage would go beyond simple wage increases ordered by the government.

Perlman said the President had a choice of two courses in the steel crisis.

One was to get Taft-Hartley injunction against the union when the strike was first threatened Jan. 1. The injunction would have been valid 80 days.

VOLUNTARY APPEAL

Alternative was to ask the union to refrain voluntarily from striking and to have the Wage Stabilization Board consider the dispute and make recommendations.

The President took the second course.

Justice Felix Frankfurter wanted to know why the government did not use the Defense Production

Act to requisition industrial facilities.

Perlman said the procedure would take too long.

"Would you mind telling me why?" the justice asked sharply. Perlman said it would mean filing condemnation suits in every judicial district in the United States. Justice Frankfurter said he did not think so.

Perlman said: "I think you've confused section 201 of the Defense Production Act with Section 18 of the Selective Service Act."

Selective Service provides seizure of certain facilities which fail to produce goods after receiving government order to do so.

The white-haired Davis took up rebuttal by referring to Title V of the Defense Production Act, in which Congress indicated a course for handling disputes in emergency. The procedure included calling labor-management conference.

The President did not utilize that section of the act.

Davis told the court Title V specifically forbade disputes procedures inconsistent with the Taft-Hartley Law.

COMPANIES "BY PASSED"

As to government attacks on industry's claims of irreparable injury, Davis said the companies' bargaining power was "bypassed and ignored" by seizure and the companies' relationship with their employees broken.

"What injury can be more irreparable than that which ousts the owner from his property and uses his funds?" asked the veteran New Yorker.

Davis also turned aside government contention that the companies were treating the dispute as a "normal case."

"We are asking the court to treat it as an abnormal case without parallel in American history," he declared.

West Asks Election Study

released simultaneously in London, Washington and Paris.

The joint response of the three powers has been meticulously drafted in the past month since the Soviet government proposed on April 9 "free elections" in Germany, the formation of a German government with its own armed forces and its present frontiers, but at the same time prohibited from entering "into one or another groupings of powers directed against any peace-loving state."

This was widely interpreted in the Western capitals as a Soviet maneuver to hamper an early signing of the contractual relationship between the Bonn Government and the Western occupying states and the later entry of West Germany into the European defense community.

Accordingly the Western answer to the Russians has had to leave the door open to the Russian suggestion for free elections to satisfy the deep longing of the German people in both zones for unification.

At the same time it has had to avoid the familiar pitfall of endless and fruitless negotiations which might at the present time merely delay and divide the Western world in its progress toward common security.

The essence of the much discussed joint Western reply therefore is that it accepts fully the desirability of early free elections throughout Germany, but only on carefully stipulated conditions definitely establishing that the atmosphere for such elections exists.

board, George W. Armstrong, president of the Texas Steel Company, told the House Labor Committee earlier in the day that the dispute power should be taken away from the board.

STRIKE BLAME

He said the WSB has actually stimulated labor strife, and if there were no WSB there would be no oil strike. He also asked for a ban on nation-wide bargaining.

The National Association of Manufacturers and the United States Chamber of Commerce, in statements filed with the Banking Committee a few hours before it acted, asked that Congress let wage, price and civilian materials controls die on June 30 this year.

Prepared testimony of spokesmen for both groups said the controls had done little to stabilize the economy.

"INCREASE COSTS"

"They impede production, impair incentives and increase costs both for industry and government," said William J. Grede, NAM president. Clem D. Johnston of Roanoke, Va., vice president of the national chamber, said the main reasons why inflation has remained in check since the spring of 1951 are tax increases, credit controls, increased savings, and the fact that there has been relatively little deficit financing.

CAPEHART CHANGE ORDERED

The committee instructed its staff to draft an amendment to the Capehart provision of the present controls law to make it clear the provision applies only to manufacturers, and not to retailers.

Under the Capehart provision, increased costs which occurred between the start of the Korean War and last July 26 must be taken into account in fixing ceilings prices.

The Emergency Court of Appeals ruled last week the provision applies to retail ceilings as well as those of manufacturers. The Office of Price Stabilization said the effect would be to raise ceiling prices on a long list of food items.

259 Solons To Be Selected in Primary

Senate, is seeking renomination and is opposed by George P. Whitman Jr., strong Talmadge supporter and chairman of the State Board of Education.

The Millican-Whitman battle is highlighting the Fulton County race. The second hottest legislative race in this county is a four-way contest for the House seat vacated by Rep. Luther Alverson.

SEEK ALVERSON SEAT

Campaigning for the Alverson vacancy are Hamilton Loke, Atlanta attorney and Navy veteran; Cicero Kendrick, labor leader and former legislator; J. H. Vickers, and Richard Thibadeau.

Rep. Mugsy Smith is opposed for renomination by Harry Lloyd and Marvin Sullivan. Rep. Hoke Smith is opposed by Wilson Brooks.

In DeKalb County the hottest race is between Rep. James Mackay and Mel Turner, Decatur mayor and former state senator. Rep. Hugh McWhorter is opposed by Bill Ansley for another DeKalb seat, and Robin Harris, Guy Rutland Jr., Ben Smith Jr., and Hugh Rogers are running for the seat vacated by Rep. Richard Bell.

In Cobb County, which gets three House seats this year because of its population increase, Rep. Fred Brantley, Rep. Harry Williams, "Hoot" Gibson, Sen. Harold Willingham, Ben Smith and Charles Wilson are the free-for-all candidates in a non-bracketed campaign. The three top vote-getters win the seats.

SEEKS COMEBACK
Among the down-state races of general interest across the commonwealth is a senatorial battle in Clinch County. In this campaign, Mrs. Iris Blitch, national Democratic committeewoman from Georgia and former legislator, is attempting a comeback after her defeat for the House two years ago by Rep. Downing Musgrove.

Mrs. Blitch, a strong administration supporter, is opposed by Frank Dickerson and A. L. Barnhill.

In Jenkins County an anti-administration leader, Walter Harrison, is seeking a comeback after his defeat for the House two years ago. The stentorian Harrison, a colorful legislator for many years, is opposed by Roy Johnson and Clifford Parker.

In Chatham County there is a fight on for three House seats by a slate of "Independent Party" candidates against the "Chatham Party" standard-bearers. The Independents are Jesse Bowman, Grady L. Dickey and D. K. Roberts, and their foes are Ernest Haar, Julian Sipple and George McGee.

Since Effingham County will provide the next senator from the First District (Chatham and Effingham Counties), and Spence Grayson is not running for the House, this will be the first time in many years the veteran solon is not a candidate in Chatham.

Another veteran of the legislative scene who is not running this year is Rep. Adie Durden, a minority House member from Dougherty County for many years.

HOT CLARKE RACE

A hot Clarke County race is under way between Rep. Grady Pittard; C. O. (Fat) Baker, former legislator and gubernatorial candidate, and Bob Stephens. Rep. Chappell Matthews is unopposed for the other Clarke seat in the House.

In Bibb County a senate race between Rep. Horace Vandiver, minority House leader, and Douglas Carlisle is attracting state interest.

Rep. Herschel Lovett, strong administration supporter, has opposition for renomination in Laurens County from Robert Hightower Jr.

Osgood Williams, a minority leader in the last Senate, is opposing Rep. W. T. Flint for renomination to the House from Taliaferro County.

One of the two legislative races in Thomas County has former Rep. Robert E. Chastain, a Talmadge stalwart, seeking a comeback in a race against W. T. Jay, who was a state official in the Thompson administration.

Former Sens. Thomas G. Callaway Jr. and Frank Lunsford are seeking to return to the Legislature in races in Newton and Baker counties, respectively. Former Rep. Wayne Hinson is attempting a comeback in Ware County.

Up in Rabun County, Harry L. Brown, former assistant secretary of agriculture of the United States and former vice-chancellor of the University System of Georgia, is making a bid for a Senate seat against J. C. Powell, prominent farmer.

And in Douglas County an adjutant general under the Thompson administration, Alpha Fowler Jr., is one of six House candidates.

Stream Must Dry Some Time

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK, May 13—Those who are beginning to wonder why the Yankees are not surging in the general direction of their fourth consecutive flag haven't checked too closely on the situation.

The Yankees began their amazing series of pennant spins over 25 years ago.

But look at those who have come and gone in those years—Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Bob Meusel, Earl Combs, Tony Lazzeri, Bill Dickey, Joe DiMaggio, Charley Ruffing, Lefty Gomez, Joe Page, Tommy Henrich and several others. These were all stars, many of the greatest in baseball history.

Certainly, Ruth, Gehrig, Dickey, Gomez, Ruffing, DiMaggio and Henrich belong far up. They were flag winners and crowd appealers. No one can expect such a stream to come winging its way forever. There are times when the roaring rivers of the West turn into beds of rock and sand.

The Yankees are not that sour. But out of the old pack they have only Phil Rizzuto and Yogi Berra left to represent the glory that used to be. This is outside of the pitching, which hasn't been too bad.

As far back as 1923 the Yankees had 30 hits in one ball game. They have stood for power, the record in power, year after year.

—DiMaggios Come Just Once in a While

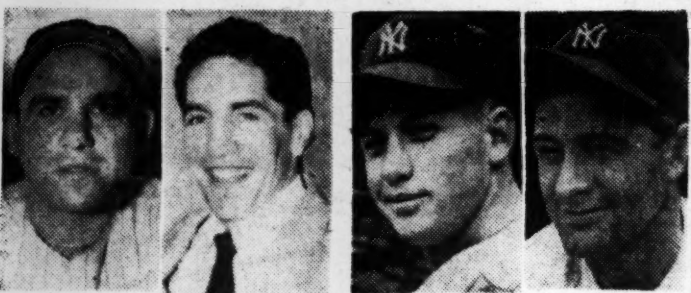

But the big pool had to start drying up some time. The day had to come when the Yankees would run out of big talent after a sensational quarter of a century—or even longer.

In that time the Red Sox have won one pennant, looking back to 1920. And they've had Tom Yawkey. Cleveland's Indians have won one pennant since 1920. One in over thirty years!

It has been a pleasant thing for Yankee rooters, meaning the Yankee record. But it hasn't been too hot for baseball over the map. After all, there are 16 major league clubs. To have one club in the country's largest city dominate the scene almost completely is a sour note for the game in general. It hasn't been any too good for public interest.

The Yankees got a wrecking start in back of Ed Barrow, the mastermind of baseball, plus the bank rolls of Col. Jake Ruppert, Dan Topping and Del Webb, plus Larry MacPhail.

Barrow was the star feature of the Yankees' rise. He picked a

Yogi Berra, Phil Rizzuto, Mickey Mantle, Lou Gehrig
good successor in George Weiss, but there were no Barrows left. Weiss did a first-class job with the able help of Bucky Harris and Casey Stengel.

—Mantle Has the Best Chance

But the tide that flowed also had to ebb. It had to run out. It wasn't a matter of New York money. Tom Yawkey has spent much more on his Red Sox than anyone ever spent on the Yankees or any other club.

Money is a big help but it isn't all the story. Judgment and luck play two big roles. There are times when you buy a dud and sell a star. Players the Yankees have sold or traded in the last two years have turned out to be entirely different from what they were in Yankee uniforms. They have helped to build other teams. What the Yankees got in return didn't help the organization any too much at times. But again there is no reason why the Yankees should make all the smart moves while the others were dumb.

The Yankees still have a good team in the making. Whether any of their young brood will become star players is anybody's guess. Mickey Mantle has the best chance, if you listen to Yankee experts. But DiMaggios come along rarely. Rizzuto is quite a star and Berra may become one. But it could be a long road back to the Yankees that used to be. This would make it much tougher on Yankee fans accustomed only to the fat and pleasant diet of autumn-blown pennants.

RED-LETTER DAYS

No-Hitter for Dayton Biggest Lift for Payne

(This is the seventh in a series of articles written especially for The Constitution by Atlanta Cracker players, describing their greatest thrills in baseball. Next up: Al Aucoin.)

By JOE PAYNE

Hal Simpson spoiled a no-hitter for me with a home run last Sunday at Ponce de Leon Park, but that 5-1 victory over Little Rock was a real highlight. I haven't been able to pitch much since I hurt my back a year ago at Rochester. And it really makes you feel good to be headed back in the right direction.

However, that wasn't my Red Letter Day. That phase of my career came in 1948, when I was pitching for Dayton, Ohio, of the now defunct Central League. It was a cool May night, the temperature was about 40, and we were playing in Saginaw, Mich.

My arm felt kinda stiff when I warmed up, but once the game started I was plenty hot. Saginaw hit only one ball out of the infield, an easily caught fly ball. I missed a perfect game by the margin of two walks. I fanned eight.

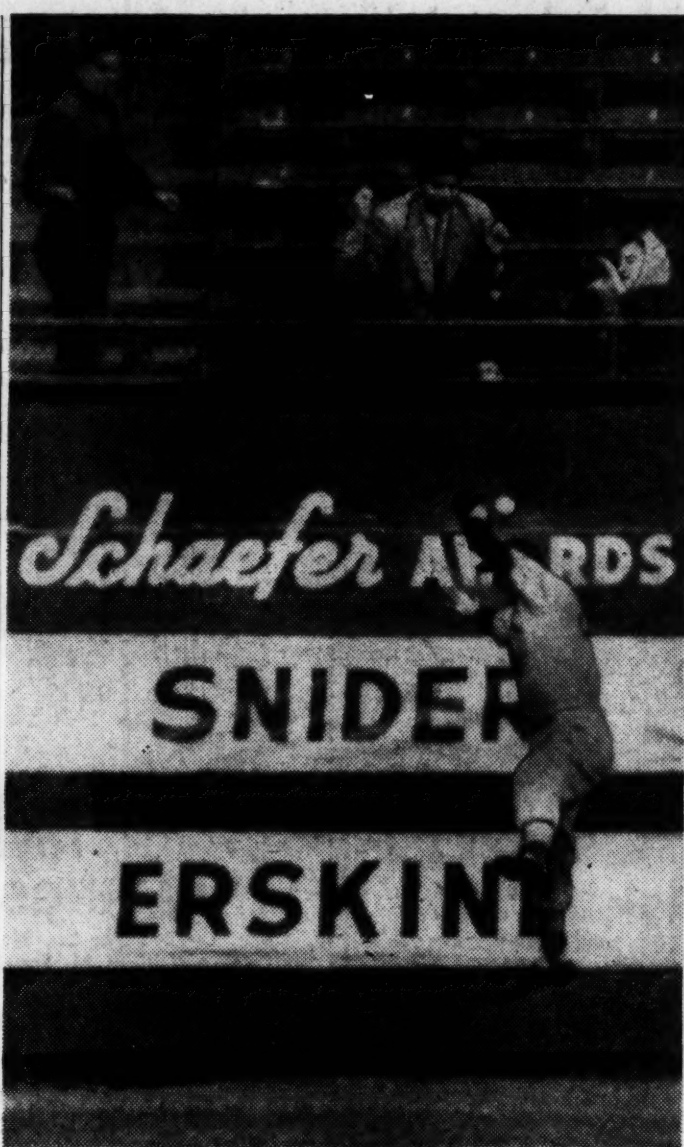

A no-hitter is the dream of every pitcher, and the dream came true that night.

New Orleans Gaiety Leaves Walker Cold

Recalls Last Year's Downfall As Crackers Open Series

By JESSE OUTLAR

Constitution Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 13—Gay ole New Orleans, where Atlanta opened a three-game series with the Pels Wednesday night, wasn't so gay for Dixie Walker's club a year ago.

Walker thought he had another pennant brewing when the Crackers made their first visit to the Crescent City. Seven straight series under their belts, they were sliding along in first place.

That's when the 1951 nightmare started. The Crackers lost four in

Giants Whip Reds, 7-4

NEW YORK, May 13 (AP)—Bobby Thomson batted in five runs with a home run and a bases loaded double to lead the New York Giants to a 7-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds tonight. Larry Jansen went the distance for the Giants for his third triumph without a defeat.

The victory enabled the Giants to retain their one-game National League lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who had whipped the St. Louis Cardinals earlier in the day.

Simmons 'Cuffs' Cubs On Two-Hitter, 6-0

Philadelphia Ace Whiffs 12 For Second Victory of Year

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP)—Curt Simmons, Philadelphia Phillies southpaw recently returned from Army duty as a sergeant, treated the Chicago Cubs like a squad of buck privates tonight, as he turned in a two-hit 6-0 victory, striking out 12—including the last four men to face him. It marked Simmons' second victory in three decisions this season. Gran Hamner started the Philadelphia scoring with a one-run homer in the first inning.

For Simmons, whose hurling most brilliant mound performances had been interrupted for 18 months of Army life in this country and Germany, it was one of the

Cards Get Stallcup, Sisler From Reds

Traded for Westlake, Kazak; Player Deadline Rush Awaited

NEW YORK, May 13.—Major league clubs continued to do business at a brisk pace Tuesday in an effort to pare down to the required 25-player limit by midnight Wednesday, May 14.

In an 11th-hour deal, the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds completed a two-for-one player exchange that figures to help both clubs.

The Reds shipped outfielder Dick Sisler and shortstop Virgil Stallcup to the Cards in exchange for outfielder Wally Westlake and third baseman Eddie Kazak. No cash was involved.

The Cards also optioned first baseman Steve Bilko to their Rochester farm in the International League subject to 24-hour recall. That left the Redbirds with 26 players, one over the limit.

Washington got down to the limit by selling utility outfielder Sherry Robertson, a nephew of owner Clark Griffith, to the Philadelphia Athletics. That put the A's one over the limit.

Only Cincinnati and the Chicago White Sox, besides the Senators, have trimmed their squads down to 25 players. Detroit, Pittsburgh and the St. Louis Browns must cut

Maglie, Garcia Top ERA Pace-Setters

Barber Paces NL With 1.02; Tribe Ace Sports 1.17 Mark

NEW YORK, May 13.—A pair of durable right-handers, Sal Maglie of the New York Giants and Mike Garcia of the Cleveland Indians, top their leagues in earned run effectiveness.

According to pitching figures released by the statistical bureau of the Associated Press, Maglie has yielded a mere five earned runs in 44 innings for a 1.02 mark. The statistics do not include Tuesday's games.

The swarthy ace of the Giants was second last year to Chet Nichols of the Boston Braves. The rookie southpaw, who finished with a 2.88 average, was inducted into the Army last month.

Garcia, the American League pace-setter in this department, also has been extremely stingy, yielding only seven earned runs in 54 innings for a 1.17 ERA. Last season Garcia ranked sixth among the league hurlers.

New York Giants pitchers have captured earned run laurels in two out of the past three seasons. Jim Hearn, who was obtained from the St. Louis Cardinals on waivers early in the 1950 season, boasted the lowest ERA that year—with Maglie second—and Lefty Dave Koslo headed the list in 1949.

Another Cleveland moundman, Early Wynn, led the American League in 1950. Last season Saul Rogovin set the pace with a 2.78 average, but at this stage the Chicago right-hander is not listed among the league leaders.

Steve Gromek, also of the Indians, has compiled a brilliant 0.82 ERA, but he has worked only 22 innings. This is three short of the required total of 25 innings.

Three Tribe Homers Supply Victory Over Yanks, 10-6

CLEVELAND, May 13 (AP)—Home runs by Larry Doby, Dale Mitchell and Ray Boone spearheaded a 10-6 victory for the Cleveland Indians over the New York Yankees in a three-game series opener tonight.

It was the Indians' fourth straight victory over the Yankees, whom they beat three times in New York last week.

Belting Bill Miller and Bob Kuzava freely in the third and fourth innings, the Indians gave winner Steve Gromek a 7-0 lead, but Steve was chased in the seventh when the Yankees cut their deficit to 7-5. In the eighth they cut it to 7-6.

Errors Aid Nats Over Detroiters

DETROIT, May 13 (AP)—Two wild throws by Detroit Tiger infielders broke up a pitchers' duel tonight and gave the flash-fast Washington Senators their ninth victory in ten games, 4 to 3. Squat Conrad Marrero gave up only four hits to beat the Tigers for the second time this season.

Second baseman Jerry Priddy threw wide on Jackie Jensen's leadoff grounder in the sixth inning. He moved to second on an infield out and scored on Pete Runnels' single to break a 2-2 tie.

In the eighth inning, shortstop Johnny Lipon threw wildly on another grounder by Jensen and the former Yankee raced all the way to third. He scored on Mickey Vernon's single.

Marlin Stuart gave only five hits to the second-place Senators but absorbed his first loss.

A's Top Brouns Behind Shantz

ST. LOUIS, May 13 (AP)—A three-run fourth inning, highlighted by a powerful triple to center field by pitcher Bobby Shantz, gave the Philadelphia Athletics all the runs they needed tonight to defeat the St. Louis Browns, 5-1. Shantz, tossing a five-hitter, allowed just one safety after the third inning.

Swinks Hurls No-Hitter for Avondale

Snooky Swinks, used sparingly as a pitcher by Coach Lyman Howard all year as his Avondale nine won 11 games and lost one in winning the Region 3-A championship, Tuesday night hurled a no-hitter and fanned 11 batters to blank Lithonia, 6-0, in a DeKalb County League game at Avondale.

The right-hander walked the first two batters to face him, but didn't allow another man to reach base.

28 Southeastern Pros Seek PGA Spots Today

By BETT PRATHER
 Twenty-eight Southeastern PGA teaching pros will haul out their shooting irons Wednesday at Meadowbrook Country Club and attempt to win a ticket into this year's National PGA championship at Louisville, Ky.

The six low scorers over the 36-hole medal play route will qualify for the National and also pick up $100 each in prize money.

Although all participants in this sectional are teaching pros with the exception of Elmer Reed and Bob Hayes of Atlanta, it is figured that a 140 or better will be needed to lead the field. A score of 145 should make the Louisville tournament.

Ranking among the favorites are Pat Abbott, Memphis; Johnny Morris, Nashville; Henry Lindner, Augusta; Tommy Wright, Kingsport, Tenn.; Harold Williams, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Oley Crisman, Selma, Ala.; Elmer Reed, Atlanta, and host pro Bobby Stowe.

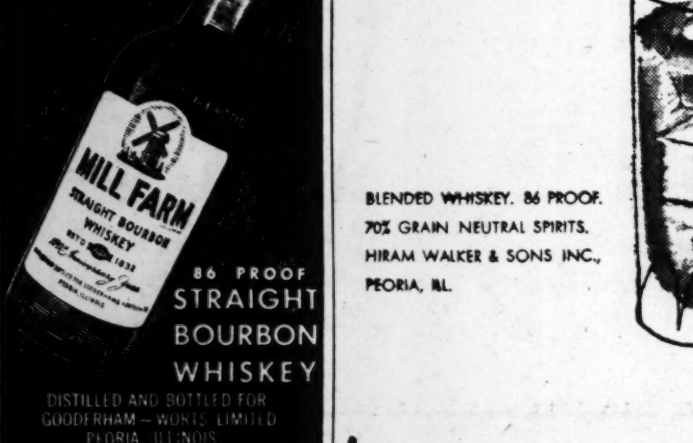

Lowest practice round Tuesday was a 68 turned in by Lindner. A six on the 18th hole was his only slip up.

GOOD BECAUSE OF TRIPLE-ACTION TREAD

Quiet-Traction Tread with different bar lengths is scientifically engineered for quiet running plus road gripping traction. Top Tread is wide, level and deep... compounded with improved cold rubber for longer mileage. Under Tread is specially compounded for cooler running and better protection of cord body.

Board Spurs $7,010,000 School Plan

By HERMAN HANCOCK

Detail plans and material priorities for the $7,010,000 expansion program for Atlanta schools were ordered Tuesday by the Atlanta Board of Education.

The board urged architects to complete construction plans for the program as quickly as possible.

Board members also deferred action on a request by Jake Shelor and P. L. Bardin that a 15-member advisory committee be established to study needs of the schools on a long range planning program.

In other actions, the board adopted a 1952-53 school calendar calling for start of the new school year Sept. 8 and ending it June 5, 1953, and purchased an eight-acre lot costing $16,000 for erection of a new elementary school in the Cascade area. It is located on Venetian Drive near Pinehurst Avenue.

Ex Trolley Union Aide Is Indicted

By MARJORY SMITH

J. S. Pickard, former treasurer of Amalgamated Street Car Local Union No. 732, was indicted by the Fulton County Grand Jury Tuesday on charges of forging 10 checks said to have been illegally drawn on the trolley operators' union pension fund.

J. B. McCurdy, union attorney, charged Pickard forged names of 10 Atlanta Transit Co. employees to checks totaling $3,647.30, drawn May 31, 1951, on the fund maintained with the Trust Company of Georgia.

According to McCurdy, Pickard had authorized checks made out to employees who actually were not eligible for pension refunds by stating they had left the employ of the transit firm.

STILL ON PAYROLL

McCurdy said the employees actually remained on the company payroll and knew nothing of the pension fund checks. The attorney said Pickard was accused of cashing the forged checks himself.

He said "discrepancies" were discovered during a routine audit of union funds Thursday.

J. P. Thomas, union local president, declined to make a statement but it was understood a further investigation of the trolley men's pension fund is now under way.

A $25,000 bond was set for Pickard following the jury's action. Pickard's attorney, Morris Talley, said the union treasurer would "make bond Wednesday."

Pickard declined comment on his indictment.

McCurdy said checks were drawn just before the inauguration of a new joint company-union pension plan last June 1.

HOW PLAN WORKED

He said prior to the June 1, 1951, agreement, the union alone maintained its pension fund. According to McCurdy, pension fund checks were administered by the bank and paid on submission of an authorization signed by the union president and treasurer.

McCurdy said Thomas had accused Pickard of forging the union president's signature. The attorney added, "There is no evidence at this time to show any person other than Pickard is involved."

McCurdy, Thomas, John Gerson, Atlanta Transit Co. official, and R.

State Income Tax

Payments Pouring In

Georgians who filed state income tax returns this year but failed to make payments are now pouring money into the state," State Revenue Commissioner Charles D. Redwine said Tuesday.

Redwine said the flood of payments followed an announcement he made to the press a few days ago that he plans garnishee action against those who filed returns but sent no money with the returns.

L. McConnell, of the Trust Company of Georgia, testified before the grand jury. Pickard, who resides on Fairburn Rd., has been union treasurer since 1946.

A true bill returned against Pickard listed employees whose names he is accused of forging as Mrs. V. P. Bradford, W. O. Avrett, C. R. Bradford, E. W. Moon, L. E. DeLoach, G. E. Bridwell, H. C. Crumley, W. S. Andrews, C. R. Townsend and R. P. Cook.

Atlantan Found Hanged in City Jail Cell

A 38-year-old man who police said had repeatedly threatened to kill himself Tuesday was found hanging from an overhead pipe in a city jail cell. He was pronounced dead of strangulation.

Officers said the man, James Dickson of 167 Clay St., S. E., threatened to stab himself Monday night and they arrested him. An inquest will be held at 9 a. m. Wednesday at the coroner's office.

Mr. Dickson was a veteran of World War I. He was a warehouse clerk for the Norge Drug Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldredge will go to West Point on May 25 to attend the wedding. Atlanta members of the family also traveling to the academy for the ceremony are Miss Sara Aldredge, a sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. George A. Muscovites Lack Color Of Red Flag

LONDON, May 13 — (U) — A young Chicago woman who spent two weeks eyeing Moscow femininity said today the Muscovite lacks both style and color.

She is Mrs. Ann Henke, 25, who returned to London recently after accompanying her husband, Edmund, to the Moscow economic conference.

Henke is president of the American Electric Fusion Corp. of Chicago.

Of Muscovite women in general, Mrs. Henke said in an interview: "There's certainly nothing exciting about them at all. Their clothing is very drab in both color and cut and prices are sky-high."

Moscow's women mostly wore dark blues or dark greys, said Mrs. Henke. In the streets of the Soviet capital, she said, the women neither laughed nor looked cheerful.

But they "seemed to be moving fast and purposefully."

Mrs. Henke said Muscovite women seldom wear jewelry, and cosmetics, while available, are rarely used.

"Most Moscow women have a scrubbed look," she said.

Ft. McPherson Women Mark 10th WAC Birthday

A trim Atlanta career girl will munch birthday cake Wednesday along with over 100 other servicewomen at Atlanta's Ft. McPherson. Wednesday, May 14, is the 10th birthday of the Women's Army Corps.

Capt. Betty Brewer of 2612 Forrest Way, N. E., will take time off to celebrate from her job in the complaint division of the Inspector General's Office, Third Army Headquarters.

The small lively WAC officer has "grown up with 'The Corps,'" since her enlistment in August, 1942.

In World War II she taught servicemen to drive trucks and Jeeps and managed motor pools in Army camps up the East Coast from Florida to Cape Cod.

Back in civilian life in 1945, she studied law at Atlanta Law School nights and sold real estate days. She was called back to the service in February, 1951.

In the past 10 years, the pretty officer has seen WACS move from clerk-filing jobs to 200 fields in the armed services today.

Instead of freeing servicemen to serve overseas as the WAC did in the last war, today the Women's Army Corps helps keep the Army rotation system working and Korean servicemen coming home on time.

Capt. Brewer's uniformed cohorts are also serving with NATO in Lisbon and with General Eisenhower at SHAPE headquarters in Paris.

"We serve every place but Korea," she explains.

In Atlanta two WAC birthday celebrations are planned.

WAC officers will entertain 200 guests at a reception, 6 to 8 p. m.

Celestine Sibley A Big State Of Small Towns

All tornadoes aside, the trip to Alapaha and other parts of south Georgia was a tremendous experience.

Georgia is such a big state we never expect to live long enough to see all of it but now we feel that we've finally met a section that is curiously important to us.

The names of little south Georgia towns were woven into our upbringing like grits for breakfast and chicken on Sunday. Muv grew up in that part of the country and all the tales with which she enlivened our childhood are based there.

"When Grandma took me to Cousin Ethel's house at Tifton . . ." she would say. Or "I'll tell you about the train trip we took from Pearson to . . ."

Most beloved in our family are Muv's tales of "the Newmanses," an enormous clan which evidently was based in Atkinson County. They were country folks who hired out to farmers in the section at cotton-picking time and although they were poor they had their triumphs.

Getting work for "a dollar and dinner" on some neighboring farm was one of their triumphs which ended inevitably with the whole family taking their shoes and going to Willacoochee to spend a day.

To this day when Muv is not proud of her family's appearance she will say, "We look just like the Newmanses going to 'Coochee.'" Willacoochee was to us a sort of mythical place but now we've seen it. On our way back to Alapaha, the tornado town, we saw the name on the map and a great excitement possessed us.

"Look, Susy!" we cried. "We're going to 'Coochee!'"

Against better judgment we prevailed upon the photographer to stop and let us send a postcard to Muv from Willacoochee and take a lingering look up and down the main street.

It was like seeing the Tower of London for the first time or Plymouth Rock.

Pearson and Enigma and Waycross and Heartsease and Sun-sweet are all such places and as we drove along we looked at the color of the earth and smelled the heavy fragrance of honeysuckle, wondering if it looked thus when Muv's mother was a girl, when Great-Grandma married Great-Grandpa and Great-Great-Grandpa came here from the Revolutionary War.

If you see the land from which your forebears came you have a feeling that you know them and yourself better.

Visiting a town that has been visited earlier by a tornado is not a happy experience. But we're glad we went.

We've met a country we've always known.

Year's Dad Feted at Grady High

By JEAN ROONEY

One Atlanta father can walk on the grass, pick a rose from the formal gardens and rest under the elms on the newly beautified campus of Grady High School and not be reprimanded.

The regal new gardens and elm grove at the school on Parkway Dr. were planted in honor of the school's "Dad of the Year," Marthame Sanders. Sanders, outgoing president of Grady's PTA, was honored at a meeting Tuesday night in the school gym.

Students and parents turned out to honor the Atlanta man who put through a large-scale building improvement program for the school during his two-year term as PTA head.

Students Martha Dickert and Bill Cromwell presented him with a scrapbook and sketch of Grady grounds, "before and after."

Drum majorettes unfurled a colorful banner acclaiming him Grady's First Citizen.

Grady Senior Angelyn Sanders agreed that the man of the evening was her favorite dad too.

Think Slim And You'll Be Slim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

How does one get over the initial inertia to gymnastic exercise? Start thinking of them as "slimnastics." That's a word the Y coined for shape-ups.

Once you get the idea that just around the bend lies a shapely figure . . . that makes it easy to stretch, bend and turn.

The old drill way of exercising to count is dull. You know how it is—you start, "One . . . two . . . three . . . there I guess that's enough." Stretch your imagination and use descriptive words in place of counting.

Try it . . . "Stretching makes for a willowy waistline." Think slim, supple, willowy. Then there is some point to stretching. . . . You're stretching for a shapely silhouette.

Then with almost no effort you find yourself bending gracefully sideways, thinking, "Rhythm bending is fun and freeing." As you concentrate on smooth slimmness, all the movements flow . . . and that's the beauty of bending.

Thinking of symmetry just naturally helps direct the line of pull to the part that makes for beauty of form. When the pull is through the right set of muscles, bulges change to curves.

Chicken Price Plunge Is Homemaker's Boon

By AGNES REASON OLMSTEAD

If you have missed the editorial pages and the food ads recently then you've missed some hot news. Wonderful, tender, plump broiler-fryers are in record supply with prices the lowest in many years.

It all began last January and February when tremendous quantities of chicks were selected especially for meat production. Broiler growers are skilled in the techniques of bringing chicks to proper tenderness and plumpness and marketable size as all-purpose "broilers" weighing one and a half to four pounds.

During the next several weeks Georgians are asked to eat plentifully of this meat that means so much to the state economically.

FUN WITH FOODS

Certainly most of us won't have to have our arms twisted because fried, broiled, roasted, barbecued, fricasseed, braised chicken is always good eating any day of the week.

Chicken is truly an international food cooked and enjoyed around the world. Recently an International Chicken Day program was held in New York and chicken dishes from all over the world were prepared and judged for fine flavor.

Surely every Southern homemaker has many favorite recipes for chicken. During the next several weeks when you'll be serving chicken frequently give the family some unusual treats by serving one or more of these foreign dishes sent from the New York "cook-off."

CHICKEN INTERNATIONAL

- 1 2 1/2-pound ready-to-cook chicken
1 cup cooked rice
1 tablespoon melted butter
No. 4 1/4-cup drained tomatoes
1/4 cup chopped onions
1/4 cup chopped green peppers
1/4 cup chopped celery
1 chicken liver, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon curry powder
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 egg

Wash and dry chicken. Make the stuffing of the remaining ingredient mixing well. Stuff both body and wishbone cavities lightly. Truss. Place chicken breast down on rack in shallow open pan. Roast in a 350-degree oven until tender, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours, turning bird breast up when about 1/2 done. Pour sauce over chicken 20 minutes before it is done. Make sauce as follows.

- SAUCE
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 cup chicken broth or bouillon
1/4 cup vinegar
6 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon soy sauce

- 1/2 clove garlic, minced
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup pineapple chunks
1 1/2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 pimiento, sliced
Blend cornstarch with 1/4 cup broth. Combine all remaining ingredients except pimientos in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Pour sauce over chicken and baste several times during the last 20 minutes cooking roasting. Add pimientos to sauce about 5 minutes before serving. Makes 5 servings.

POLLO CACCIATORE

(chicken Hunter's style)

- 1 ready-to-cook chicken, 2 1/2 to 3 pounds, disjointed
1/2 cup olive oil, scant
1 teaspoon paprika
1 finely sliced onion
3 1/2 cups canned tomatoes
1 clove garlic
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup white wine, optional

Dry chicken. Cook gently in hot olive oil until well browned. Sprinkle with paprika to aid browning. Turn occasionally to brown evenly. Spoon off 2 to 3 tablespoons oil. Add onions, tomatoes, garlic, salt and pepper. Cover tightly and simmer until chicken is tender, about 3 to 4 hours. If sauce is watery, remove chicken and simmer sauce several minutes to thicken. Return chicken to sauce, add wine and heat. Remove garlic before serving. Makes 5 servings. If desired, add the cooked, diced giblets to the sauce.

Bringing Up Baby

Young children's eating habits are, to say the least, unconventional. But it doesn't pay to fret about it. Little shavers have a way of experimenting all their own. Grabbing at food is just their way of teaching themselves. It's reassuring to remember that, in spite of the mess, your young sprout is learning a lot about coordination.

Don't force the issue. Don't make baby eat every last crumb. A child's appetite is usually a good guide to the amount of food he needs, barring illness, of course. Children's appetites do vary from day to day, even as yours and mine.

Appetizers par-excellence. When your wee one is ready for spoon-fed foods, you can aid and abet his appetite with Gerber's Cereals. Smooth, nice-to-the-tongue texture! Bland and so pleasant tasting! Besides being fortified with added minerals and B-vitamins. Wonderful way of wooing and waking up little taste buds is to rotate all four: Rice Cereal, Barley Cereal, Oatmeal, Cereal Food (wheat).

Signed and sealed. The important little seal you see here is your assurance that Gerber's Baby Foods are all Accepted by the Council on Foods and Nutrition of the American Medical Association.

Sit-up-and-take-noice dept. Almost before you know it small babies learn to sit up by themselves. When this happens, one of the things that just naturally follows is Junior's graduation to the big tub. (And how he'll love it.) But for safety's sake, place a towel or mat in the bottom of the tub so he won't slip.

WHY IS WANDA WITHERING ON THE VINE?

Wands used to be so full of "bounce" . . . always the life of the party. Now her healthy color has been drained away . . . she's lost her pep and enthusiasm. She seems old before her time.

Doctors tell us that many such tragedies can be avoided. Many, many men and up to 2 out of 3 women, particularly those from 15 to 50, suffer needlessly from a simple iron deficiency. And it's these women who sorely need an abundance of iron to rebuild rich, red blood that renews strength and energy . . . puts the roses back in your cheeks. Thousands who once were pale and pallid, tired and run-down, have restored health and vigor with IRONIZED YEAST tablets—a concentrated iron tonic formulated specifically to help you revive weakened, washed-out blood cells. Weakness and pallor can have other causes, so see your doctor regularly. But if iron deficiency has you feeling worn and wasted . . . drains color from your cheeks . . . start taking IRONIZED YEAST right away. For IRONIZED YEAST has the vital iron you need to regain your youthful sparkle, vitality and enthusiasm. Get IRONIZED YEAST at your drug counter today. See how its daily use can help you be your old time self again . . . for just a few pennies a day.

UNDER THE DOME

$2,500 Cost
In Liquor Violation

State Revenue Commissioner Charles D. Redwine invoked stiff penalties Tuesday on a Muscogee County liquor retailer charged with selling liquor in wholesale quantities.

Redwine revoked the license of John Smith, operator of the store on the Hamilton Road near Columbus and forfeited bond of $2,500. The action was taken under the state regulation which prohibits retailers from selling more than two quarts of liquor to a single customer in one day.

Future Teachers Tour

More than 100 University of Georgia seniors who will become school teachers next year visited the state Capitol and the state Department of Education Tuesday.

In a meeting in the House chamber the future teachers heard discussions by Department of Education officials L. M. Lester, Claude Purcell, C. S. Hubbard, Miles Sheffer and George Martin on certification of teachers, salaries and finance, instructional material, school construction and vocational education.

While his subordinates greeted the students, state School Supt. M. D. Collins was on a tour with a special education department committee to visit vocational schools at Americus and Clarksville. The committee's task is to evaluate work of the two schools in the light of sharp declines in enrollment.

Atlantan Bids Low

The state Welfare department opened bids Tuesday for construction of a new 200-bed dormitory at the Georgia Training School for Mental Defectives at Gracewood near Augusta.

Hardin and Traver, an Atlanta firm, was apparent low bidder with $257,726 for the modern one-story building which will include recreation areas and cafeterias and radiant floor heating. The structure is to replace a dormitory destroyed by fire a year ago.

$3 Million Road Jobs

Contracts were awarded Tuesday by the state highway department for approximately $3,400,000 worth of construction on 22 projects for which bids were opened Friday. Contracts went to Friday's apparent low bidders except in two cases.

Errors discovered in apparent low bids resulted in Ledbetter Johnson of Rome getting contract for a $779,137 job in Gordon County, and Hugh McMath of Columbus receiving a $52,710 job in Washington County.

Macon Alley Ruling

The Georgia Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that the city of Macon cannot close part of an alley and sell it to private interests.

In affirming a decision of Bibb County Superior Court, the high tribunal ruled in favor of Mrs. Christine Lee Tift, Mrs. Anne C. Mendenhall and R. P. Thornton in their suit against the municipality and Mrs. Annie W. Dunlap. The plaintiffs charged the city planned to abandon an alley used as entrance to their places of business and sell it to the Dunlaps.

The Supreme Court held: "The mere cash consideration flowing to the municipality is not sufficient to warrant diversion of the alley from public to a private use."

Spark Newspaperboys' Drive

The distaff side has joined the ranks of volunteers in the Old Newspaperboys' Day Drive!

More than 300 members of Beta Sigma Phi, international business women's sorority with 14 chapters in Atlanta, Tuesday pledged to sell a special edition of The Atlanta Journal-Constitution to raise funds for the benefit of the Atlanta Cerebral Palsy School.

Sparking the sorority's efforts at an organization meeting were Miss Vickie White, president of the group's city council; Miss Carol Pearson, chairman of the social service committee; Miss Betty Whitmire and Miss Mable Crew, who said they hope to make the project an annual event.

The Old Newspaperboys' Day sale will be Friday, May 23, under sponsorship of the Atlanta Variety Club and The Atlanta Journal-Constitution, with thousands of volunteers going into action on a day sale downtown and night sale in the metropolitan area's residential sections.

Chapters of Beta Sigma Phi working on the night sale are Beta Xi, Beta Iota, Beta Omicron, Beta Pi, Beta Epsilon, Sigma, Rho, Lambda, Pi, Xi Alpha, Xi Eta, Alpha Pi and Kappa. Miss White said other projects of the organization are Boys' Estate and Oak Hill Homes, and added, "The Old Newspaperboys' Day drive is one of the finest endeavors we've ever heard of, and we want to do our part in making it a big success."

Special to The Atlanta Constitution
WASHINGTON, May 13.—Carl G. Strandlund testified under oath today Senator McCarthy set the $10,000 price that the Lustron Corp., at the time heavily in debt to the federal government, paid him for an article on housing in 1949.

"The senator wanted to name the price," said the former Lustron president. "He wanted $10,000. We thought it was worth that to us."

SOLD FOR SCRAP

Evidence later produced before the Senate elections subcommittee, now considering a resolution seeking McCarthy's expulsion from the Senate, revealed nearly half of the 20,000 pamphlets containing the McCarthy article ultimately were "sold for scrap paper" when Lustron's assets were being liquidated in 1951 after the government had foreclosed on $37,500,000 in Reconstruction Finance Corp. loans.

Strandlund testified yesterday to the best of his recollection it was McCarthy, a powerful figure in guiding housing legislation during the Republican 80th Congress, who first suggested the firm purchase the rough draft of the article. The rate of payment on the article, it was developed, approximated 70 cents a word.

DEFENDED PURCHASE

Strandlund had defended the purchase, insisting it "gave us more than Joe Blow writing the article," but he conceded today he never expected the article to have "the political impact" that developed.

Even under re-examination, he held to the position it was Senator McCarthy who put the $10,000 price tag on the article.

"That was the figure he set for me," he said.

In approaching Lustron, manufacturer of prefabricated housing, the senator, according to Strandlund, said other possible publishers were competing for the article.

Letters from publishing houses relative to the article, inserted in the Congressional Record by Senator McCarthy June 19, 1950, revealed most of them had rejected the article.

Other testimony adduced at yesterday's hearing revealed McCarthy, shortly before he made the sale to Lustron, was being pressed hard by a Wisconsin bank for repayment of a $20,000 loan, one of three aggregating $72,943 the bank then held.

Shrine Maestro Ill

Rudolph A. (Rudy) Brown, 52-year-old leader of the Shrine orchestra, was seriously ill Tuesday in Kennestone Hospital, Marietta, following a heart attack.

1st Policeman Fired After Gross Sings

NEW YORK, May 13.—The first of 18 policemen whom bookie Harry Gross called grafters was fired from the force today, just eight hours before he would have retired.

As a result, the cop, Lt. Thomas J. Evans, 44, loses a $2,375 a year pension. He was a policeman 21 years.

Police Commissioner George P. Monaghan fired Evans after a departmental trial that ended yesterday. The dismissal was recommended by Judge James A. Delehanty.

"What Gross says is substantially true as to him (Evans)," Delehanty reported in a typewritten, 18-page finding.

Monaghan added that gambling was "rampant, uncurbed and un-suppressed in the very areas where this respondent (Evans) was charged with its suppression."

Child Accused of Stealing for Sister

NEW YORK, May 13.—A cute, blonde little 10-year-old girl was accused today of turning jewel thief to finance her older sister's modeling career.

The child allegedly burglarized a playmate's home and made away with $500 worth of jewels.

The older sister, Paula Daighe, a pert 17-year-old, was released in the custody of her parents by Felony Magistrate David McKean to await a hearing on a conspiracy charge.

Her boy friend, Theodore Nowinski, also 17, was held in $5,000 bail as an accomplice.

Police said last Sunday Paula complained she needed new clothes to seek a model's job. She didn't have the money, she sighed.

The little sister offered the information that she knew where a strongbox was kept in the nearby apartment of Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson, who seldom keep their apartment door locked.

The little girl allegedly stole into the apartment when the Pattersons were out and returned with the jewel box. Theodore and Paula opened it, removed the jewels and threw it away, police said.

Next day young Nowinski pawned some of the jewels, officers added. A neighbor saw the little sister leave the Patterson apartment and notified police.

Little sister will be taken care of in Children's Court.

Convert Confesses Part In 1940 Florida Slaying

ROANOKE RAPIDS, N. C., May 13.—A man who recently joined a church and wanted to clear his conscience has confessed participation in a 12-year-old Florida shotgun slaying, police Chief T. J. Davis announced today.

The chief identified the man as Eddie Rutland, 49, a native of Cameron, S. C.

The officer said a check with Florida authorities confirmed details of the killing told by Rutland, a floater who came here about two months ago and has been living at a mission operated by Roanoke Rapids churches. He recently joined the Baptist church.

The chief related that Rutland called him last week end and told this story:

He and four other men, whom he named, planned the slaying of Les Wilson March 15, 1940, at Crestview, Fla. Wilson was a candidate for sheriff on a reform ticket. Rutland and one of the men went to Wilson's home. Rutland remained in the car while the other man called Wilson to the door and blasted him with buckshot.

The officer did not disclose the names of the four men, but added they are under investigation and being watched in Florida. He said Rutland will be returned to Florida.

When the floods come here's how "Your Unseen Friend" helps fight off the danger of typhoid

When flood waters threaten to pollute the public water supply, "king-size" quantities of chlorine are fed into the mains to prevent an outbreak of typhoid fever or other water-borne diseases.

WHEN a river's on a rampage...

When a town's all but drowned by swirling tides of dirty, silt-laden, polluted water... that's when people are acutely aware of the danger of typhoid. Of the dramatic efficiency of their anti-typhoid "ground forces"—the sanitary engineers and "Your Unseen Friend!"

Come the floods, then portable chlorinating units are flown or trucked into the stricken area... to reinforce the chlorinating apparatus already there.

"King-size" quantities of chlorine are fed into the mains. And no matter how badly the town's drinking water is polluted, it's soon safe and drinkable.

As well as being death on the "Red Death" (typhoid), chlorine is also bad medicine for most metals.

That's why vital parts of certain control valves in chlorinating equipment and in the gas cylinders are made of Monel, a Nickel alloy.

Monel's corrosion resistance keeps these valves from failing when needed most. Its strength and toughness prevents damage when valves are opened and closed. This Nickel alloy protects them from excessive wear and scoring.

For all of Nickel's importance in this and other applications, you seldom see it. It's a giving metal—a metal usually intermixed with others to give strength, give toughness, and give other special properties.

That is why Nickel is called "Your Unseen Friend."

For the inquiring mind: Where does Nickel come from—who made this friendly metal useful, valuable? How is it possible to raise tons of ore thousands of feet and produce Nickel for your ever-expanding world of wonders?

This romance of men, mines, and machines, of developing resources, is in your free copy of "The Romance of Nickel." Write, The International Nickel Company, Inc., Dept. 756a, New York 5, N. Y.

... suppose it was your duty to see that this money—three-quarters of a billion dollars—was wisely invested. Would you just keep it in cash? Buy government bonds? Or invest it in common stocks?

Well, a business magazine called The Investment Dealer's Digest wanted the best answer it could find, so it went to the men who manage four of the largest funds and foundations in the country and asked.

Stocks Led On Uptrend By Chemicals

New York Times News Service
Special to The Atlanta Constitution

NEW YORK, May 13.—The stock market held to a non-committal course today, idling along in another session of restricted trading. Selected gains during the morning were cancelled out to a considerable extent in the afternoon leaving the composite rate only higher by 0.11 point. The chemicals made the best recovery with most of the rails unable to maintain the forenoon increases.

In only slightly better dealings, transactions on the Stock Exchange were limited to 890,000 shares compared with Monday's turnover of 800,000 shares. Transfers were concentrated in 1,067 issues and at the close 410 showed gains, 362 losses and 295 no change.

The volume of business on the Big Board was barely sufficient to keep the ticker reporting tape operating. Speculative interest this week has fallen to the lightest in more than two years and brokers can see no relief from the present stalemated condition. All eyes have been centered on the fight over the legality of the government's seizure of the steel plants. Arguments were heard today by the Supreme Court by all interested parties and most observers felt that a decision might be weeks away.

Cotton Futures Down at Close

NEW YORK, May 13.—Cotton futures were steady Tuesday on short covering and commission house buying. The market had an early run-up extending to more than $1 a bale, influenced by news that the export-import bank has given France a credit of $45,000,000 to purchase United States cotton. Dealers estimated that this would cover upwards of 175,000 bales. Traders felt that prospects were enhanced for a very tight cotton carryover on July 31 if France buys all old crop cotton with the credit. However, some dealers noted a tendency among some foreign buyers to defer purchases pending the marketing of cheaper new crop cotton.

There were 40 May transferable notices issued at New York. Trading in nearby May expired at 12:30 p. m. EDT Tuesday on final prices of 39.32 and 39.33 cents a pound.

Futures weakened in late trading on increased profit taking. Failure of old crop July to rally after nearby May expired brought in selling in the balance of the market.

Futures closed 65 cents to $1.05 a bale lower than the previous close.

Gall Bladder Medicine
Need Not Be Swallowed

Although I often read your articles, complains Mrs. S. D., I have never seen any on gall bladder trouble. Mrs. S. D. then informs me that she hasn't gallstones and so the doctors doubt whether an operation will bring relief to her distress and lack of energy.

The main reason why I shy away from the subject, Mrs. Dakota, is that I'm afraid of what the printers will do to my copy. Years of experience have taught me that the less I try to say in this column about gall bladder trouble the better.

In the booklet So You Have Indigestion? I tell all I know about it—which isn't much—and give instructions for nonsurgical drainage of the gall bladder. Some readers report that they have had highly satisfactory results from this. Others report that the recipe merely made a mess they couldn't swallow. The only way to account for this is to infer that the druggist supplied something "just as good" or "better" in place of the elixir of lactated pepsin.

In any case, if the stuff doesn't please you there's nothing I can do about it. You're stuck with it. The drawback about two preventive or remedial measures I recommend for any one who has gall bladder trouble or a suspicion thereof, is that you can't take 'em in "shots," in capsules or on a spoon.

These measures are (1) belly breathing exercise night and morning, and (2) six somersaults first thing every morning.

MAKE-UP WON'T HIDE CALENDAR LOOK
But this scientific way may avoid showing monthly "nerves" All the make-up in the world can't take that drawn, nervous look out of your eyes each month. But here's a modern way that has helped many women and girls who suffer from calendar misery, nervousness and the signs of it. It's Cardui, a tested medicine that helps build strength and resistance each month. After a time, many women feel no monthly cramps at all. Also helps relax jittery nerves—also better. Look, feel your normal, happy self. Ask your dealer for Cardui. They "come-on-easy".

Doctors recommend products which provide the soft, bulk slugging intestinal muscles need for satisfactory elimination. Thousands of doctors have recommended Saraka granules for over 15 years. Like the famous granules, new Saraka Tablets form a bland "gel" which, helped by a special pure vegetable ingredient called cortex frangula, gently urges intestinal muscles to get back to work. Results are so nearly natural, most people have no "laxative" sensation.
